Geneva Honors Centenarian Who Is Still 'Pretty Frisky'

By JOHN SWANSON
Star Staff Writer

GENEVA, Neb.—A quiet little gray-haired lady who is known around here as "still pretty frisky" received the honors of the entire community here Thursday as she entered her second century of life.

On her 100th birthday Mrs. Georgia Hart greeted more than 500 persons at a reception in her honor held in the Congregational Church.

Those present, representing every community in Fillmore County, were among friends she has made since moving here in 1878. The reception was complete with two birthday cakes both topped by the figure "100," and souvenirs of Mrs. Hart's earlier years.

The honoree, herself, was somewhat taken aback by all the to-do. Looking around her she said: "I was told this was just going to be a little party. And now look at this."

The idea of the reception originated with Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Humphrey, Mrs. Hart's daughter and son-in-law with whom she makes her home now. The Geneva Chamber of Commerce, with printing donated by Tyler Edgecombe, editor of the Nebraska Signal newspaper, prepared a giant congratulatory card with hundreds of signatures. This, together with other local tributes, was presented to Mrs. Hart.

Mrs. Hart was born in Duncansville, Pa., and moved to Nebraska with her husband. They farmed northeast of here until 1940 when Mr. Hart died. Mrs. Hart has since lived with her daughter in Geneva.

Atlantic Pact Plans Quality Barricades

Defense Structures Cut Nearly In Half

PARIS (AP) — The hard-up Atlantic Allies wound up their four-day conference Thursday by agreeing to emphasize quality rather than numbers in building their 1953 barricades for Western Europe.

In the face of warnings by their highest military commanders that Europe remains wide open to attack, the council of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization nearly halved the program for construction of airfields, radar screens, roads, bridges, and other defense structures next year.

The 32 ministers of foreign affairs, finance and defense of the 14 nations voted to build 224 million dollars worth of top priority works, as against the 428 million requested by the military committee.

Sea Command

The council announced it also had agreed to:

1. Set up a new Mediterranean Sea Command under Britain's royal-descended Adm. Lord Mountbatten.

2. Revise their basic strategy to insure defense of the Balkans and Turkey.

3. Build up their economies so they can stand up to the burden of rearmament.

4. Support France in the war against Communist-led armies in Indochina without physically joining the battle.

5. Hurry up the project for the six-nation European army in which German ground, air and sea units would be included.

6. Meet again in the spring, as early as possible, presumably after British Prime Minister Churchill has had a chance to hold talks with the new administration of President-elect Eisenhower.

Grim Warnings

By way of explanation of the cut in the construction program—despite grim warnings by the U. S. Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, allied supreme commander in Europe and U. S. Adm. Lynde D. McCormick, allied naval commander in the Atlantic—the council said:

It "recognized that a strong defense requires a healthy economy."

"For the future the council directed that more emphasis should be given to increasing the effectiveness of the forces of the Alliance and the units necessary for their support, rather than to the provision of greater numbers," it added.

The construction figure, about 40 per cent of which will be paid by the United States, was an 11th hour compromise with the American representatives. The Europeans, contending that their economy would not stand the strain, wanted to cut it even more.

The compromise, it was estimated, sets aside enough money for the most urgent works to get underway in the spring.

Rain, Sleet, Snow Seen In Southeast; Snow Over State

Forecasters aren't ready yet to say that Nebraska will have a white Christmas, but present indications are that at least part of the state will be white the weekend before Christmas.

The weather man says southeast Nebraska Friday will have freezing rain, sleet or snow, while the rest of the state will have to be satisfied with just snow.

There will be more light snow on Saturday in the north and extreme east.

High temperatures Friday are expected to range from the 20s in the east to the 30s southwest.

The precipitation in the western part of the state began Thursday. An inch of new snow (.05 of an inch of precipitation) fell at Imperial, and North Platte reported .02 of an inch precipitation but didn't specify the snow depth in the Weather Bureau report.

The CAA reported light snow was falling at midnight Thursday at Grand Island, North Platte and Lexington.

Twin Boys Improved

One Baby Shows Only Slight Gain

CHICAGO (AP)—The newly divided Brodie Siamese twins went separate ways Thursday after their historic operation, one becoming conscious but the other taking a turn for the worse and then improving only slightly.

Rodney Dee, favored for "survival of the fittest" by choice of surgeons whom separated him from his bigger twin brother, regained consciousness with a cry and a smile Thursday morning.

His twin, Roger Lee, whose brain circulation was impaired by the operation—the 13th on the twins—suffered one relapse but then showed a slight gain.

Rodney Good

Surgeons said, however, his condition still is "precarious."

It will be five to seven days before the babies can be taken off the critical list. For Roger the next few hours may tell whether he will survive.

The latest bulletin on the condition of the 15-month-old twins, issued by the University of Illinois Thursday, gave this report:

"Rodney — has regained consciousness. Cries and smiles. Condition is stable. Seems to be good.

Surgeons Cheered

"Roger—Still in very precarious condition, although respiration and other vital factors have improved slightly during the morning."

This improvement cheered surgeons who Wednesday had to make one of the most difficult decisions they ever faced.

At the height of the 12-hour and 40-minute operation, they discovered their earlier fears were well founded. There was only one saggital sinus, the main passageway or vein draining blood back from both brains.

This called for an immediate choice. The incision could be made to give one twin or the other the vital vein.

'Breaks' Given

Dr. Eric Oldberg, head of the University of Illinois Department of Neurology, said Rodney—the smaller of the twins—got the break because he was holding up much better under the strain of the operation, and surgery in his favor could be more easily performed.

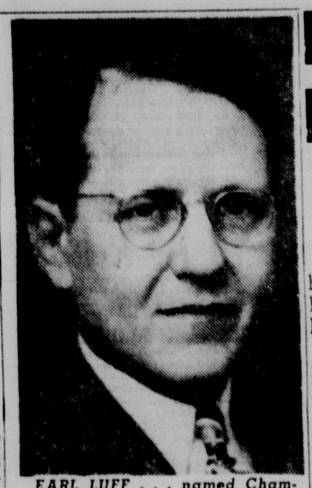
Dr. Oldberg, an observer at the operation, performed in the university's Neuropsychiatric Institute, described the surgery in detail at a news conference.

A newsman asked him if the doctors decided their course should be to aid in "the survival of the fittest."

"You might put it that way," Dr. Oldberg replied.

The parents, Mr. and Mrs. Royt Brodie of Moline, Ill., maintained their harrowing vigil near the cribs of their tiny sons.

Doctors said much additional surgery still is required. Soft tissue has been used to cover the naked brains of both twins. Bone grafts or plastic or metal coverings will be needed to build tops for their skulls.



EARL LUFF . . . named Chamber of Commerce head.

Earl Luff New Head Of Chamber

Earl T. Luff, president of the Lincoln Steel Works, Thursday night was elected and installed as president of the Lincoln Chamber of Commerce. He succeeds Emmett Junge.

Other new officers, all installed immediately after election, are:

Ralph W. Tyler Sr., vice-president of Gold and Co., first vice-president.

A. Q. Schimmel, managing director of the Cornhusker Hotel, second vice-president.

John E. Curtiss, director of public relations at Consumers Public Power District, third vice-president.

Walker S. Battey, vice-president of the Continental National Bank, re-elected treasurer.

Archie J. Baley, re-elected secretary and general manager.

Luff served last year as a vice-president of the chamber.

Retiring from office, in addition to Junge, are Vice-Presidents Roy M. Green and Carl Ganz.

New Directors

New three-year directors taking office Thursday night included Glenn A. Baldwin, Chauncey E. Barney, Merle M. Hale, Carl C. Hudson, Edwin C. Schultz, Willard E. Townsen and Howard S. Wilson.

Retiring directors are William I. Aitken, Dr. O. V. Calhoun, A. A. DuTeau, Don Pegler Sr., James Stuart and Ganz.

A native of Palmyra, the new president graduated from the University of Nebraska in 1928. While in college he was regional director of Theta Xi fraternity, and was a member and captain of the wrestling team.

Luff is a past director and vice-president of the Lincoln Builders dent branch of the American Society of Civil Engineers, past president of the Associated Industries of Nebraska, past national presidents of Theta Xi, and past president of the Lincoln Dinner Club.

Five Highlights

Retiring President Junge, in reviewing his administration rated five activities as highlights. They were assistance in reactivation of the Air Base, co-operation in the national "get out the vote" campaign, helping to entertain the national Aberdeen-Angus show during the State Fair and trying to secure the Angues breed association national offices for Lincoln, financial aid to the Salt-Wahoo Watershed association, and conducting of the Business-Education day participated in by 700 school teachers and 60 business firms.

"Our 25 active committees worked constantly for a greater Lincoln," he said. "A net increase of 140 in our membership brought the total in all divisions to 3,349. We continued modernization of our headquarters building. All in all, it was a year of progress, due to the splendid work of our officers, directors and committee members."

President Gets Korea Report From Bradley

Refuses To Comment On Eisenhower's Peace-Plan Meeting With MacArthur

WASHINGTON (INS)—President Truman said Thursday he has received a full and fair report on President-elect Eisenhowershower's Korea trip from Gen. Bradley but stood pat on his assertion that the mission was pure demagoguery.

The Chief Executive told his news conference he has nothing to add or subtract from his statement last week blasting both Eisenhower and Gen. MacArthur.

Mr. Truman pointedly refused to comment on the meeting between Ike and MacArthur Wednesday in which the former Far East Commander presumably gave Eisenhower his "clear and definite" plan for ending the Korean War.

The President said he had expressed his opinion on the matter last week, when he criticized the Eisenhower trip as demagoguery and expressed doubt that MacArthur had any new plan to offer.

He emphasized that he had nothing to add and nothing to take back.

Mr. Truman was pressed to say whether developments since Ike's return from Korea had caused him to change his mind about the demagoguery charge.

He then said he had received no communication from Eisenhower and MacArthur, directly or indirectly, and that he expects none, since he already has received what he termed a full and fair report from Bradley, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, who accompanied Eisenhower to Korea.

Bradley Conference

The President held a 20-minute conference with Bradley last Saturday. He refused to discuss what Bradley had told him, saying it had never been his habit to talk publicly about the Korean conflict and that he did not intend to start now.

Other highlights of the news conference:

1. Mr. Truman replied this way to the charge of Lt. Gen. Henry Larsen, president of the National Association of Civil Defense Directors, that the administration has given only "lip service" to the program. Let him look to the Congressional slash in Civil Defense funds for the answer.

2. The President said he has not decided whether he will deliver his final state of the union message to Congress in person. With a grin, he observed that Congress would be busy and might not be as much interested in the outgoing President as in the new man in the White House.

3. He refused direct comment on Commerce Secretary Sawyer's charge of waste in the European aid program, and on Sawyer's call for an end to all but military aid. The President told reporters to wait and see what he has to say in the budget message on that matter.

4. He declined comment on the loyalty board decision that there is "reasonable doubt" of the loyalty of John Carter Vincent, suspended Monday from his post as U. S. Minister at Tangier, Morocco. But he said that if Secretary of State Acheson desires, he will confer with him on the Vincent case.

Reds Loot Austria, U.S. Says

'Treaty Refusal Based On Designs For Power'

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (INS)—The United States accused Russia Thursday of looting Austria and pinned Soviet refusal to sign an Austrian peace treaty on designs for control of Central Europe.

Yugsolavia promptly echoed the U. S. accusation in the U. N. political committee by charging that the mass of Soviet troops in Austria can be justified only as long as the treaty is not signed.

Vladimir Popovic, Yugoslav delegate agreed with previous statements by the U. S. and Britain that Russia alone is responsible for the seven-year deadlock on the treaty and that the principal purpose is to keep the Balkan area in turmoil as "a sore spot."

The political committee pursued its debate despite the fact that Soviet delegate Andrei Gromyko served notice he will not join in any discussion because it is a question for the foreign ministers of the four Western powers. He declared further that Russia will not recognize any decisions taken on the treaty by the assembly.

Brazil Plan Supported

The U. S., Britain, India, The Netherlands, Chile and a host of other nations announced their support for a Brazilian resolution addressing an "urgent appeal" to the four powers to reach agreement on the Austrian peace treaty and terminate the occupation.

U.S. Representative Benjamin V. Cohen told the committee that Russia "is simply using Austria as a pawn in the Soviet Union's struggle to cling to and extend its own power in Central Europe." He said Russia alone is responsible for the seven-year deadlock on getting a peace treaty.

The American diplomat said Russia looted Austria of over $700 million in property and industrial value alone.

Telephone Service Is 'Best Ever'

Telephone service in Nebraska "is the best in the state's history and is getting better," according a report of the Nebraska Telephone Association.

James L. Morrison of Lincoln, secretary-treasurer of the association, in releasing the report commented on a report from Washington earlier this week saying Nebraska was one of eight states which do not receive Rural Electrification Administration loans to improve or expand telephone service in rural areas.

Morrison said telephone companies in the state had completed or were engaged in more service improvement programs in 1952 than in any previous year.

More Gains Expected

Over 4 1/3 million dollars were spent this year for improvement and expansion of facilities, the report said, and even greater gains are expected in 1953.

Morrison said nearly 12,000 more farms in the state have telephone service now than at the end of World War II.

The report declared: "Nebraska is one of eight states in the country without a government-sponsored telephone system built with taxpayer money."

'Don't Want Aid'

It continued that "this fact may cause concern among Rural Electrification Administration officials in Washington, D. C., but in Nebraska it simply means that private enterprise is fulfilling its obligation of giving good telephone service. Most telephone people in Nebraska feel that they do not want or need government aid to run a successful business and that it is questionable if the people of the state can afford such service as long as free enterprise continues to meet the public need."

The report said several Nebraska telephone companies have considered a government loan and have turned it down because of "highly restrictive requirements in the government loan agreement which could result in an unmanageable debt ratio and thereby unduly increase telephone rates to the public."

70 Music Boxes Make House Tinkle

By JOAN KRUEGER
Star Staff Writer

It would be mighty hard to spend more than five minutes in the Clifford Schroff home at 3427 South 29th without hearing tinkling music box melodies.

For there are about 70 of the mechanical items—ranging from a spice grinder and merry-go-round to door chimes and old steins. And they play anything from Braham's "Lullaby" to the rollicking "Roll Out the Barrel."

Touch the centerpiece in one of Mrs. Schroff's Christmas displays and you'll see Santa and his reindeer slowly circle a housetop to the tune of "Holy Night."

Pick up a brass samovar from Russia and you'll hear a Russian melody.

French Tune

Touch another and you'll see two dainty Dresden figurines bow to each other to a quaint French tune.

Or look at Mrs. Schroff's favorite, two humming bird figures with real feathers, and you'll hear deceiving bird calls from the gold cage which came from Germany.

Lovers of classical music will prefer a gold case enclosing a minature Madonna which plays "Ave Maria," or the old organ playing "Lullaby," or the boxes with opera selections.

These are only a few of Mrs. Schroff's accumulation which started about 10 years ago. Today her living room is filled with nick-nacks—mostly music boxes. For instance, in one corner is a cradle filled with plants—but it's a music box.

Eight Selections

Mrs. Schroff said the value of music boxes is determined by the number of notes. Hers have a varying number. One plays 50 notes and three pieces, "Home Sweet Home," "Dixie Land" and "Auld Lang Syne." Some play as many as six or eight selections.

Most of the boxes have been gifts, and there are ones from Germany, France, Russia and Switzerland which friends and relatives have sent. She believes the Swiss boxes are the best. Although the frame and design on some come from America or another country, the units often are Swiss, she said.

Mrs. Schroff, whose eyes sparkle when she displays the boxes, apparently never tires of them. She has shown them to various groups, especially school children.

"We enjoy them," she says, "and they aren't a hobby that you put away in a barrel and never use."

In fact, she quipped, "we eventually will probably have almost an entirely musical house."

Sale Of Fireplace Wood Helps Finance Removal Of Dead Trees

By BILL DOBLER
Star Staff Writer

The family fireplace is making money for the city of Lincoln.

As a matter of fact, it has nearly made a profitable business out of an operation otherwise well in the red. This business is the selling of wood for fireplaces which last year netted the city $2,040 and promises to grow this year.

For the 1952-53 fiscal year to date, the City Park Department has sold nearly 100 cords of wood at $15 a cord. Last year's sales totaled 136 cords.

Dead Trees Cut

The Department obtains the wood by keeping dead trees cut out of the city parks and parkways along the streets. For the 12 months period ending this Dec. 1, the Department has removed some 1,000 dead trees, according to Park Superintendent Glenn Suiker.

The trees are cut into logs where they are removed and the logs hauled to the splitting and storage grounds at Antelope Park, directly behind the city zoo. Several hundred cords of wood are now on hand there with some 100 cords ready for use in fireplaces.

The wood sells for $8 for one-half cord and $15 a full cord, delivered.

Cutting the big American Elm, Maple, Mulberry, Locust and Ash logs into fireplace size is a major job. On the mechanical end, the Department has converted an old piledriver into a log splitter.

The splitter hauls a 400 pound weight with an attached blade up to a height of nearly 18 feet. The weighted blade then drops through a steel chute onto the log—a splitting job which would take many more man hours if done by hand.

To operate the splitter, keep it supplied and keep the split wood piled up takes a crew of four men. An average day's work is 10 split cords.

While the Department's entire tree removal and log splitting program loses money, said Suiker, the loss would be even greater if it were not for the sale of the wood. Deducted from the loss for whatever it is worth, however, must be the public service given by the Department in keeping all city parks and ice skating ponds supplied with fire wood.

Early Talk To House Predicted

Would Follow Up His Inauguration

NEW YORK (AP) — President-elect Eisenhower indicated Thursday he may follow up his inauguration by making a speech to Congress on his legislative program and the state of the Union.

Word that Eisenhower is considering this possibility came from Rep. Joseph W. Martin of Massachusetts after he attended the first of a series of conferences the President-elect has scheduled with Republican congressional leaders.

The address "naturally will deal with his legislative program and the state of the Union," Martin told a news conference at Eisenhower's Hotel Commodore headquarters.

Details Not Told

The first Eisenhower-congressional conference gave little clue as to details of the legislative program, except that Martin said the main emphasis would be on reducing federal spending.

Martin, slated to be speaker of the House in the new Congress, said the discussion dealt with general outlines of a program and not with specific legislation.

Attending the conference with Martin were Rep. Charles Halleck of Indiana prospective House minority leader, and Rep. Leslie C. Arends of Illinois, slated to become House floor whip.

Eisenhower is planning a similar conference with Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio and other GOP senatorial leaders after Christmas.

Martin, asked whether the program would result in a tax reduction, said Thursday's conference did not deal directly with that topic.

"We've got to see about reducing spending before we get around to taxes," he said.

Israeli-Arab Talk Move Fails In U.N.

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (INS)—U.N. efforts to initiate Arab-Israeli talks on Palestine collapsed Thursday night, throwing the thorny Middle East issue back into the laps of the two former warring parties.

A recommendation for immediate negotiations between Israel and its Arab neighbors on their differences failed in the Assembly when it fell short of the required two-thirds majority.

The vote was 24 to 21 with 15 abstaining.

The Arab-Asian and Soviet blocs, China and Bolivia, opposed the proposal. Israel supported it along with the United States and Britain. Argentina, Greece, Columbia, Costa Rica, Mexico, Honduras, Peru, Venezula and the Philippines abstained.

Schaper, Gaines Win 1st Round Of NU Law College Moot Court

The first of the school year's two moot court sessions at the University of Nebraska Law College were completed Thursday with the first year team of Schaper and Gaines winning out over C. D. Johnson and Clyde Worrall.

The moot court sessions determine the teams which, through three years of competition, eventually argue their cases before the State Supreme Court for the coveted Thomas S. Allen Appellate Competition award.

The competition concluded Thursday wound up arguments between 15 sets of teams by students in all three years of their law work. The mock trials are designed to give law students experience in the method of preparing cases and arguing them before a court, the judges of which usually are advance students.

The final moot trial in this first session was won by John S. Schaper of Colorado Springs, Colo., and Raymond E. Gaines of Chattanooga, Tenn., over C. D. Johnson of Tilden, Neb., and Clyde R. Worrall of Wahoo, Neb.

Senior law student finalists who will argue their cases before the State Supreme Court this spring are Warren Wise of Lincoln, teamed with John Dier of Lincoln, against the team of William Grant of Columbus with Robert W. Green of Danbury, Neb.

The trial cases, between teams of the same grade, are competitive throughout the full course of a student's career at the law college. The winning team is consequently unbeaten in three years of competition.

Other teams arguing cases in the first session this year were: Donald R. Cunningham of Tekamah and Floyd D. Goff of Burwell, second year students, who won out over Robert D. Conover of Bridgeport and George Phillips of Lincoln.

Pat W. Healy and Jerrold L. Strasheim, both of Lincoln, who lost to the second year student team of Eleanor L. Knoll of Omaha and Janice M. Lindquist of Wichita, Kan.

Omanans R. E. Johnson and R. H. Berkshire, first year students, out-debated Paul Bradley of Columbus and Armin B. Pagel of Lincoln.

John A. Curtiss of Geneva and William E. Bonnstetter of Garner, Ia., won over first year students James Hewitt of Hastings and Roger M. Smith of Lincoln.

The thre man first year team of William E. Mooney of Omaha, Ormond F. Meyer of West Point, and Irvin R. Tillotson of Des Moines, Ia., lost to Omahans Ira Epstein and Gerry Fellman.

Edward A. Pierson of Geneva and John L. Brown of Hastings, first year team, won over Allan J. Garfinkle of Leavenworth, Kan., and Asher Geisler of Decatur, Ill.

First year students Gilbert M. Gunderson of Chamberlin, S. D., and Robert Hinds of Lincoln dropped from competition the team of Charles E. Wright of Scottsbluff and James C. Trumbull of Scottsbluff.

Bernard Sprague of Red Cloud and Robert W. Hazebrook of West Point were dropped by Charles J. Burmeister of Wahoo and Alfred W. Blessing of Ord in first year competition.

First year team members John D. Bunger of Upland and William E. Marx of Lincoln won over Charles H. Beatty of Holdrege and Stanley A. Snyder of Fairbury.

Walter G. Henderson of Elkhorn and Leslie W. Jensen of Hot Springs, S. D., won their second year round against Don L. Bichs and Fred Swihart, both of Lincoln.

Don F. Rocke of Hallam and John P. Phahn of Nebraska City lost honors to Guy G. Curtis of Imperial and Robert E. Otte of Neligh.

Fred J. Schroeder of Curtis and Norman G. Oliver Jr., of Lincoln argued successfully against Howard A. Maskel of Ponca and David D. Tews of Norfolk in second year competition.

The second year team of John F. Futcher of Omaha and Harvey Goth of Lincoln topped the team of Bronson Moore of Brownville and Robert N. Howard of Omaha.

Sidney H. Sweet of Hartington and Don R. Samson of Central City were dropped in first year competition by Daniel Lavaty of Lincoln and Jerry T. Massie of Clay Center.

Homebound Dischargee Is Fined For Speeding

Glenn O. Anderson of Rt. 3, Lincoln, was a pretty anxious guy when he got out of the Army last week.

He was so anxious, in fact, that three hours after his discharge from Ft. Riley, Kan., he was speeding along the highway toward his home.

Municipal Judge John Jacobsen, while sympathetic with Anderson's reason for haste, assessed a fine of $40 for speeding at night. Anderson had pleaded guilty.

Brink Firm Holdup Man Is Revealed

. . Name Boston Gangster

BOSTON (AP)—Joseph "Specs" O'Keefe, notorious Boston gangster, is named as a participant in the fantastic $1,219,000 Brink's holdup in FBI affidavits which became available to newsmen Thursday night.

The affidavits, drawn a few months after the Jan. 17, 1950, crime by the FBI agent in charge of the robbery investigation, assert the agent's belief that some of the loot was at that time concealed in an overstuffed chair in the Boston home of Mary and Paul Hooley, sister and brother-in-law of "Specs" O'Keefe.

The sworn statements — which had been secreted, but in a public place — became available during a recess in a contempt case against O'Keefe, a reluctant witness in a current grand jury investigation of the robbery. O'Keefe is here on a court order from the Bradford County Jail in Towanda, Pa.

The affidavits, found by newsmen in a federal building office, were signed by FBI agent John B. Greene.

Substantial Sum

The affidavits assert that "a substantial sum of money in the approximate amount of $60,000 in denominations of $1, $5, $10, $20, $50 and $100 bills was on April 27, 1950, and still is unlawfully possessed by Paul and Mary Hooley. . ."

The affidavits indicated that the money was first hidden in the Hooley's Boston home and then taken to their Stoughton home.

At the same time the affidavits became available, unconfirmed reports were published that the FBI has recovered some of the Brink's money, although not necessarily any of the money referred to in the affidavits. To these and all other questions about the investigation the FBI refused comment.

Hardly had the affidavits, four in all, been obtained by newsmen when it was learned three ranking Boston policemen had been summoned to testify before the grand jury investigating America's largest unsolved cash robbery.

The crime was pulled off by a band of gunmen all dressed alike in Navy style pea coats, seaman type caps and wearing grotesque hood masks.

11 Committee Chairmen Installed By Nurses

The Nebraska State Nurse's Association installed 11 chairmen for special and standing committees Thursday night at the Cornhusker Hotel.

Standing committee chairmen are: Mrs. Helen Miller, Miss Carylnn Damm, Mrs. Connie Way, Mrs. Ruby MacArthur, and Miss Pauline Freehling.

Special committee chairmen are, Mrs. Lucille Buck, Mrs. Vivian Adams, Mrs. Agnes Cole, Mrs. Edith Howard, Mrs. Lucile Harkness, and Miss Ruth Licking.

Following the appointments, an orientation session was held for the new officers.

Crescent Jewelers Seek Restraining Order Removal; Fair Trade Act Attacked

Charging that the Nebraska Fair Trade Act is "special class legislation" and "constitutes unlawful restraint of trade," the Crescent Jewelers Company, 1332 O, asked in a motion filed in District Court that the restraining order now in effect against the company be dissolved.

The Elgin National Watch Company filed suit against the jewelers charging violation of the Fair Trade Act. Crescent was charged with selling trademarked watches at a price lower than those established by the watch company.

A restraining order preventing Crescent from "advertising for sale, or selling" Elgin watches at the lower prices was granted by District Judge Harry A. Spencer. The order is in effect until the hearing for a temporary injunction which will be held Friday.

The Crescent motion stated that the company was "not guilty of unfair trade practices" and had "not sought to destroy competition," but they were rather trying "to meet a competitive situation brought into being, facilitated, and induced by Elgin."

'Act Unconstitutional'

"The Fair Trade Act is an unconstitutional attempt by the State Legislature to fix prices in businesses that are not clothed with a public interest," the motion alleges.

Elton Goldberg, an officer of the Crescent Jewelers Company, stated in an affidavid accompanying the motion, that "it is common knowledge in the jewelry trade that Elgin is selling trademarked and labelled items to retailers and distributors at lower prices" than those established by the act.

The watches sold by Crescent were not purchased from the watch company directly, Goldberg states, but from other retailers who were reselling the watches at prices below the fixed standard.

Goldberg charges the Elgin company with "discriminating among retailers" and cites three other Lincoln jewelry firms who allegedly are selling the watches below Fair Trade prices.

Dismissal Report By Lie Slated

. . . Added To Agenda

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (INS) — Secretary-General Trygve Lie announced Thursday he soon will present to the U.N. a "comprehensive" report on staff dismissals.

In anticipation of submission of the report, Lie proposed a new item for the assembly's agenda: "Report of the Secretary General on personnel policy."

The 14-nation steering committee voted twelve to two to recommend the item's inclusion in the assembly's agenda. Russia and Czechoslovakia voted against. The item is expected to come up for discussion when the assembly reconvenes in February.

Lie said:

"The report which I shall submit will be prepared with full regard for the questions raised by representatives of member governments in the administrative committee and I shall distribute as documentation all revelant materials, including the opinion of the commission of jurists, an analysis of the situation, and the conclusions which I have drawn in regard to this problem."

$154 Theft Reported

Allen W. Wilson, 805 So. 18th, Thursday reported to police a theft of $154 from a dresser drawer in his apartment.

Investigating officers reported entrance had been gained by inserting a thin instrument behind a wood strip on the door casing and forcing the bolt back. There was no evidence of the apartment being ransacked.

Doors to two other apartments were tampered with, police said.

Red Supply Centers Take Heavy Attack

SEOUL (Friday (INS) — Two big supply concentrations vital to the Communist war machine in North Korea took a heavy pounding early today from twelve American B-29 Superforts operating from Japan bases.

The four-engine bombers unloaded more than 500 quarter-ton bombs on enemy supply areas at Kanachon, eight miles southeast of Sonchon, and at Kwanni, south of North Korea's Red capital of Pyongyang.

Superfort bombardiers aimed their destructive cargoes electronically amid the bright shafts of Communist searchlight beams piercing the dark early morning sky. Only a light amount of flak hampered the raiders.

The 60-acre Kanachon target included 85 buildings and the 50-acre Kwanni target, sixty buildings.

Allied fighter bombers roaring over North Korea Thursday smashed a 100-building troop center 20 miles south of Pyongyang in what was described as "a perfect strike."

American Sabrejets, protecting the swarm of bombers, shot one Red jet from the sky and damaged another.

Bryan Statue Should Remain In Its Present Location Claims Smith

OMAHA—An Omaha attorney, Seymour Smith, is circulating petitions asking Governor-elect Robert Crosby to allow the controversial statue of William Jennings Bryan to remain in its present location on the State Capitol grounds.

Smith declared "Bryan belonged to Nebraska" and this tribute to his memory belongs at the Capitol.

Federal-State Poultry Market Report Is Sought

Representative poultry and egg producers, buyers, hatcherymen, and processors from over the state agreed Friday to seek legislation setting up a federal-state market reporting system for Nebraska.

Approximately 50 persons, from all parts of the state attended a meeting in Lincoln called by the Nebraska Poultry Improvement Association.

All agreed that a state-wide market report system is needed to cure some of the ills affecting the poultry and egg industry in the state and that the target date for such legislation should be the next session of the state Legislature.

'Honest Attempt'

Radio and press representatives in attendance pointed out that the state news media are "making an honest attempt to supply reliable market quotations, but are largely the victim of circumstance."

As a newspaper spokesman pointed out, a furnished quotation of 17 cents for heavy hens will appear on the market page, whereas in the same edition a dealer's advertisement will quote 34 cents.

Representatives agreed the egg and poultry quotations, largely localized, varied widely over the state and even in the same localities because of the current lack of an adequate market reporting system.

Level Out Prices

It was pointed out that a state-wide system, adopted by most all of Nebraska's neighboring states, would do much to level out the market price ranges on poultry and eggs between various areas in Nebraska and would result in marked gains to the industry as a whole, from producer to processor and from economic and quality production standpoints.

The committee of the Nebraska Poultry Improvement Association, with representatives of the processing industry and allied farm groups, will begin work immediately on legislation for a state-wide market report.

Such legislation would be drafted to make use of available federal funds, with matching state funds, according to Doyle H. Free of Lincoln, secretary of the poultry association.

The initial committee included Bob Larson, Newman Grove; Henry Walz, Randolph, and Roscoe Hill, Lincoln, with advisory members Prof. F. E. Mussehl of the University of Nebraska and Free.

University of Nebraska agriculturalists and federal and state agricultural department representatives pledged support in obtaining a workable and accurate system of market reporting for the industry.

Perfume That Clings

Q.—Dear Penny: I adore perfume, but for some reason or other its fragrance just does not last on me. I have told several of my friends that I want a new perfume, but first I must find out about a lasting one.—Mrs. A. W.

A.—A particularly good idea for women who claim that perfume does not "stay with them" is a Liquid Skin Sachet. It smooths on the skin very easily, and lingers longer because of its sachet base. It has a slower rate of diffusion and evaporation than any other type of fragrance. Try this Houbigant Chantilly Liquid Skin Sachet. Only 1.85 plus tax, in TOILETRIES, First Floor . . . Wife Chooses Jail With Husband

The woman, who conducted a day-long vigil on the steps of the Lancaster County Jail Saturday because she wanted to join her husband in a cell finally realized her wish Thursday.

Mrs. Evelyn Owen, 21, 1317 L, pleaded guilty in County Court to a forgery charge. Judge Herbert A. Ronin bound her over to District Court and set her appearance bond at $1,000. Mrs. Owen decided she would rather wait in jail than put up the bond.

Her husband, James Owen, 25, and another man, Welton W. Jones, 24, pleaded guilty Monday to respective charges of forging a check endorsement and uttering a forged check. District Judge John L. Polk ordered them held in the County Jail pending investigation of their cases.

Mrs. Owen, who pleaded guilty to writing the check for $45 to James J. Jackson and signed Charles C. Jouvenat, was not arrainged at that time. Mrs. Owen is the mother of a six-weeks-old baby boy and the court felt she should stay with the baby as long as possible.

The infant was placed in the Detention Home Thursday after the mother chose to join her husband in jail.

Letter Volume For Thursday Hits New Yule Season High

As was expected, Lincoln Thursday marked up its greatest volume to date during the Christmas rush for letter cancellations, which neared the 500,000 mark, compared with Wednesday's 422,808.

Superintendent of Mails Gerald Jones said Thursday that parcel post was running about the same as for Wednesday and indicated the peak day for outgoing packages had been reached.

Incoming fourth class mail totalled 72,476 pounds Wednesday, an increase of 30,000 pounds over the previous year's comparable date, while outgoing mail reached 56,286 pounds, a drop of 12,000 pounds.

Up 46,000 Pounds

However, all other classes increased about 46,000 pounds over the last year's comparable date.

Wednesday's totals for all classes included 129,535 outgoing pounds as compared with 92,029 for 1951 and 86,625 pounds of incoming mail as compared with the previous year's 64,189.

Although Jones never had any doubts that this December would produce the greatest mail volume ever, it wasn't until Wednesday that the month's volume to date passed the previous year's.

Doug And Ike Talk

The American people can be advised not to set their sight too high in the hope of a truce in the Far East resulting from talks between Gen. Douglas MacArthur and President-elect Eisenhower.

★

If something does come from those talks, fine and good, or so much the better. If nothing materializes, then the American people will have no real justification for feeling that they have been let down, misled, or confused. Naturally what Gen. MacArthur said to Ike, or what Ike said to his former commander cannot now be divulged. At the time that he said he had a simple solution of the problem of peace in Korea, Gen. MacArthur pointed out that "a present solution" involved basic decisions "improper for public disclosure or discussion." What the American people have before them and have had before them at all times is a period of waiting, straining their patience, arousing irritation and resentment, a demand for action in growing volume.

★

Peace itself requires the assent of two parties. It is not enough that we, the American people, are of peaceful design. It is of no importance that we have no intention of initiating aggression in any quarter of the globe. It is only secondary that we are in Korea today, part of a United Nations force, simply because the Communists decided upon a campaign of aggression in Korea. There is no foundation for a suspension of limited hostilities in the Far East if the Communists under the leadership of the Kremlin will it otherwise. They can and they have made war, notwithstanding all their protestations of a desire for peace.

★

There, perhaps, is the heaviest burden which falls upon the shoulders of the President-elect. His understandable desire, and back of him the wishes of the people of this country for a peace in Korea, are of no consequence unless the party of the second part, namely the Russians, or the Communists associated with the Russians and acting under their leadership, will it so.

★

Gen. MacArthur has had a long experience in the Orient. He has spent much of his life there. He believes, correctly or incorrectly, that few men possess the knowledge of the masses of the Orient, understand that mysterious psychology which is a part of life in the Orient, and as a result know how to deal with it effectively. He may be kidding himself, or he may be the man with the one and only answer. He may be wholly wrong in his interpretation of that spirit which seems to be flaming in the Orient, arousing its masses, and making them easy victims or pawns of Communism. It is presumptuous for us here in this country, most of us, to pretend to know a great deal about the people of Asiatic blood. When we sit in judgment upon them, professing to understand how to deal with them, we undertake a large assignment.

★

But it is fairly evident that for months the feeling has been mounting in America that we are engaged upon a hopeless, ill-fated example which pays no dividends. We can make Ike's job that much more difficult by assigning him to the role of a miracle man, with the expectation that he will produce a miracle overnight. And if he fails to do so, then in the nature of human flesh we may be a bit unreasonable because he fails us in accomplishing what was expected of him.

★

If within recent days, one individual has said to us that we have no business in Korea, should pull our boys home and get out of there as rapidly as possible, then a hundred have voiced similar sentiments. It is that feeling which presents the greatest difficulty to Ike. He knows, and if most of us will take the time to think, we know, that there can be no withdrawal except on terms of honor acceptable to a free world.

Something Of A Magnet

A study of traffic between Nebraska's two largest cities—Omaha and Lincoln—led to the conclusion that a toll road connecting the two cities would not pay off, The Omaha World-Herald noted.

On the basis of simple arithmetic based on studies of the present use of the highway connecting the two cities, it is difficult to quarrel with the figures. Figures are likely to prove stubborn things. But The Herald points out that an improved modern highway, particularly if it is a four-lane highway, has a habit of attracting an unexpected volume of traffic. That was the experience in Pennsylvania where the Turnpike paid off 23 years in advance of the period of amortization and ultimate retirement of the debt incurred in its construction. The Pennsylvania experience was duplicated in New Jersey where a turnpike there, expected to reveal a deficit in the first year of operation, actually made a profit of six million dollars.

The experience is that improved highway facilities invariably contribute to heavier traffic or heavier use of the road.

Naturally with most states, including Nebraska experiencing a headache as a result of inadequate revenues to do a highway job expected or demanded by the people, the suggestion that tax funds can be supplemented by toll revenues arouses widespread interest. There is a likelihood that the impending session of the Nebraska Legislature will find the subject of toll highways attracting more interest than heretofore. It makes sense to suggest that if at all financially feasible, an Omaha-Lincoln toll road deserves re-study—and re-study by an open-minded agency.

New Day In Nebraska

Governor-elect Bob Crosby has announced his determination to cut taxes. As a means of effecting economy in state expenditures, he proposes to establish a flat ceiling upon every state spending agency.

Chances are the governor-elect has hit upon a popular theme. State expenditures have been crawling up and up over a period of 20 years, although in the main it can be said that Nebraska has had good government and the taxpayer has gotten 100 cents of value for every dollar spent. The story of an uninterrupted two decades of increase in Nebraska's appropriations for the purpose of state government is familiar to all. Wages and salaries are higher, and they are higher simply because throughout this 20 years, the cost of living for the individual family has soared skyward. In Nebraska's case the problem of inflation was especially difficult because in the decade preceding, salaries had hit rock bottom. It is difficult to maintain the standard of service and to retain the services of good men when jobs are plentiful and outside the ranks of Nebraska state government more attractive financial opportunities can be found.

This is not to suggest that loose, perhaps extravagant habits have not wormed their way into state government. We are inclined to think that there is too much traveling, traveling of a character where the question can be raised if the taxpayer gets any value from it. The temptation to use the telephone or telegraph where a letter would serve equally well has been strong. Now the savings in this direction will not perceptibly lower the taxpayer's burden—in fact the 38 cents per one thousand dollars assessed valuation of real or personal property will not afford any great relief for any large number of taxpayers. We surmise that what Governor-elect Crosby is undertaking to do is to call a halt on rising costs or to head off any increase in the tax burden.

The fact remains that in the matter of supplies, equipment, virtually everything the individual touches, costs remain stationary or show some increase.

If the people expect taxes to go down, they must govern themselves accordingly which means that they must ask less of government.

Roasted On The Griddle

When the newspapermen of the nation's capital get together at their traditional Gridiron Dinner, sparks fly and soft hides are pierced by sly slings and barbed arrows. Men this week were roundly roasted, some of them to a crisp, others to a slow burn. A series of skits touched upon the soft spots of America's political underbelly as only the Washington correspondents can do it.

The attacks were non-partisan — or rather, bipartisan. The Democrats were informed that "they never had it done to them so good," a variation of the late campaign slogan which caused several distinguished guests to wince and others (of opposite political faith) to chuckle mightily. At another point, when one Democrat in a skit observed that "we don't have to clean up the mess," another Democrat replied: "No, the mess cleaned us up."

Republicans came in for their share of fun-poking, too. Checkers, the famous pooch of Sen. Richard Nixon, was charged with bankruptcy by a special canine court of inquiry which included Lassie, Fala, Rin-Tin-Tin and the Hound of the Baskervilles. President-elect Eisenhower was pointedly informed in one song that "This Ain't the Army, Mr. Ike," and the three alumni of General Motors in the new cabinet were welcomed with the cabinet theme song, "In Our Merry Oldsmobile."

Sinclair Weeks, who will be the new Secretary of Commerce, was warned against getting his signals mixed when they come from Wall Street, and was given additional advice in a song entitled "There's No Business Like Big Business."

It was all good fun, a typical American evening of kidding and ribbing. This is one country in which political leaders are not considered above good-natured observations from those who live under their legislative or executive rule. Reports from the banquet indicate that Gov. Stevenson and Sen. Nixon laughed equally hard throughout the evening—although not necessarily at the same times.

Ring Around The Bathtub

A plastic bathtub, weighing only 17 pounds and purported to be stronger than steel, has been produced by an aggressive manufacturer with an eye on a likely market. Compared to the traditional cast iron tub, which weighs in the neighborhood of 350 pounds, the new lightweight invention wins the first round on the basis of poundage alone.

Naturally, the plastic bathtub will not chip nor show a dent, a factor of great selling value especially if there are children in the house. Dangers of a fall in the bathtub apparently would be lessened, although there is no doubt that the bottom would probably be as slippery as any ordinary bathtub. Whether it will we warmer to the touch, whether it will be more difficult to lose the soap in it, and whether it will leave as telltale a ring around it remains to be seen. The manufacturer obviously isn't telling all.

Texas Oilman Poured Money Into Elections

WASHINGTON— Congressional election probers, digging through the files of big contributors, have come across the amazing way in which one Texas oilman tried to influence the election in 20 states out of the 48.

The oilman is H. R. Cullen of Dallas, one of the wealthiest men in the U.S.A., who placed a minimum of $53,000 behind his pet candidates during the recent campaign.

Naturally the candidates he backed if elected will be inclined to favor legislation backed by Cullen, such as Tidelands Oil and the 27½ per cent oil depletion tax allowance.

Cullen didn't scatter his money. He pinpointed it on certain candidates. Furthermore, he didn't confine it to candidates in or near Texas. He reached out all the way to Connecticut to spend $1,000 to defeat Sen. William Benton, the Democrat who had the courage to oppose Sen. Joseph McCarthy.

Likewise he sent $5,000 up to Wisconsin to help Sen. McCarthy in his primary, with $3,500 to help re-elect Sen. William Jenner of Indiana, the man who called Gen. George Marshall a traitor.

☆ ☆ ☆

Here is a detailed account of how the big Texas oilman parlayed his political money all over the United States:

Gen. MacArthur — $5,000 to MacArthur's primary in New Jersey; and $4,000 to his primary in New Hampshire. He lost in both.

Price Daniel, candidate for senator from Texas—$5,000. Daniel has led the fight for Tidelands Oil. Won.

Martin Dies of Texas—$5,000. Elected congressman-at-large.

Eisenhower campaign in Texas—$5,000. Won.

Sen. Cain of Washington—$1,000. Cain, a Republican, lost.

Sen. Brewster of Maine—$1,000. Brewster, a Republican, had supported Tidelands Oil and various measures Cullen advocated. Defeated.

Sen. Watkins of Utah—$1,000. Watkins, a Republican, had opposed Cullen on Tidelands Oil, but was wavering. He had backed the 27½ per cent oil depletion allowance. Won.

Pat Hurley in New Mexico—$1,000. Hurley, a Republican, was former attorney for Sinclair Oil, agreed with Cullen's general ideas. He lost.

Sen. Malone of Nevada (R)—$1,000. Won.

Sen. Ecton of Montana (R)—$1,000. Lost.

Sen. Kem of Missouri (R)—$1,000. Lost.

Congresman Fred Aandahl of North Dakota—$1,000. This was an attempt to defeat GOP Sen. Langer in the North Dakota primary. Langer had voted against Tidelands Oil and against the 27½ per cent oil depletion allowance. Langer won.

James B. Pattison—$3,000. Candidate for Congress in Texas. Lost.

☆ ☆ ☆

Cullen also sent $500 to each of the following Republican congressmen: C. W. Bishop and Charles Vursell of Illinois; Donald Jackson, Ernest Bramlett, Oakley Hunter, John J. Allen Jr. and Joe Holt, all of California; Edmund Rowan of New York; and James Devereux of Maryland. All had backed his philosophy in Congress.

Cullen also sent $500 to California to back Congressman Thomas Werdel of California. Werdel at first opposed Gov. Earl Warren in the California primary, later was defeated by a Democrat, Harlan Hagen. Cullen also tried to defeat two Democratic congressmen—Wayne Hays in Ohio and Sidney Yates of Illinois—by sending $500 each to their GOP opponents. The two Democrats had voted against him on Tidelands Oil. They won.

The Texan also peeled $1,500 off his bankroll to boost GOP Congressman John Wood of Idaho who had supported many of his policies. Five hundred dollars went direct to Wood and $1,000 to the Republican Finance Committee of Idaho. However, Wood was defeated by a lady Democrat, Mrs. Grace Pfost.

Cullen has been a registered Democrat most of his life. But, outside his own state, most of his money was put up to elect Republicans. The only exceptions were $500 to re-elect Democratic Congressman Burr Harrison of Virginia and another $500 to M. M. Long, who lost to Republican William Wampler, also in Virginia.

NOTE — Only family to top Cullen in individual contributions was the Rockefellers, who among them gave $85,000.

INAUGURATION NOTES

Washington hotelmen expect Ike's inauguration will be the biggest in history. Twenty thousand rooms in private homes and motels, plus 12,000 hotel rooms, will berth the crowd . . . Hotels are insisting on money in advance and all reservations must be made for four days—Jan. 17th through the 20th . . . There'll be no increase in hotel rates and Washington merchants have banded together to eliminate price-gouging . . . Republican National Committee asked hotels to set aside 6,000 rooms for GOP bigshots . . . Hotels gave committee only 1,500 reservations. Hundreds of out-of-town police, plus special details of FBI and Secret Service men will be placed in hotels and among the crowds . . . Restaurant Association has pledged to keep all food prices in line. Grandstand seats can be had through individual Republican state committees. Standees won't see much of the parade . . . Mayflower Hotel counts nine governors among its inaugural guests—Texas, South Carolina, Colorado, Maryland, Illinois, Minnesota, Wisconsin, Connecticut and New Jersey . . . Statler guests include Ike and Mamie, Kingmakers Tom Dewey and Herb Brownell, Harold Stassen, several governors and all of Ike's brothers except Milton, who will remain loyal to the Mayflower . . .

MARQUIS CHILDS

Foreign Service Hurt By Spreading Of Fear

WASHINGTON—No one can doubt that the most difficult assignment in the new administration has fallen to John Foster Dulles who will be President Eisenhower's Secretary of State. It is not alone that Dulles must work out a new and constructive foreign policy.

Almost equally difficult will be the second phase of his task—rebuilding not only the State Department but the Foreign Service. The demoralization of the agency for executing foreign policy is all but complete.

This has not happened with thunderclap suddenness. For nearly three years, under a succession of attacks, the department has steadily deteriorated in effectiveness, in morale, and above all, in independence of thought and judgment. The suspension of John Carter Vincent, a Foreign Service officer for 28 years, on the ground of "reasonable doubt" of his loyalty, comes as a final confirmation of the department's plight.

It is important to understand the reasons for the finding of "reasonable doubt" by the top loyalty review board of the Civil Service Commission. First, it was found that his reports tended to favor the Chinese Communists and to be critical of Chiang Kai-shek. Second, he was found to have associated with persons whom he might have known to have been Communists or Communist sympathizers.

There is no suggestion that he has himself ever been disloyal. The review board specifically denies any finding of disloyalty. Vincent has, of course, repeatedly testified under oath that he was never a Communist or a Communist sympathizer.

Little understanding of human nature is required to see the effect of the board's findings on the judgment of American Foreign Service officers in the field. If your honest judgment is to become suspect because it seems to favor a dangerous or unpopular faction, then you will not stick your neck out. You will send back a report that is full of meaningless evasions or that gives the picture that you think your superiors want.

You cannot know, of course, what test a congressional inquiry will apply to your confidential reports five years from now. So, better not say anything at all. Just report that the climate is normal and that the prime minister received you cordially.

That is said to be increasingly the kind of reporting coming into the State Department in recent months. As a guidance in policy-making it is virtually worthless. In navigating dangerous water, the pilot will get no help from charts that are blank or that merely show the deeps and not the shoals and the reefs.

Take the second count against Vincent—associating with persons he might have known to be Communist or Communist sympathizers. Let us say that a foreign service officer is today stationed in an area where the balance is precarious between Communists and anti-Communists. He might obtain significant information from a Communist or former Communist. But don't expect him to stick his neck out by talking with them.

The messenger who brought bad news to the Oriental despot was usually slain on the spot. The Oriental despotism directed by Stalin demands from its agents what it wants to hear. Liquidation is the penalty for those who report unwelcome truths. One of the great perils in the world today is that more often than not the Kremlin seems to be flying blind.

But in the West we have taken pride in the long and hard-won tradition of independent thought and judgment, weighing bad news along with good. The cruel injustice to the individual in this instance hardly needs to be pointed up.

What happened became more or less inevitable once the present administration took two steps. One was the President's order of May, 1951, giving "reasonable doubt" as a basis for suspension rather than "reasonable grounds to believe" that an individual was disloyal. The second step was making available to congressional committees confidential reports from Foreign Service officers in the field. The barrier of "confidential" was the protection afforded the independent judgment of an able reporter in a distant part of the world.

If the far-flung apparatus of the Foreign Service is to report careful nothings, then there is a place where Eisenhower economy can begin. More complete and more objective information will be obtained from the New York Times with its worldwide network of able correspondents.

Hard at work on his new assignment, Dulles is reported to be having difficulty getting able people to assist him in the many policy-making offices to be filled. That should surprise no one.

Not The Answer

WASHINGTON, D. C.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: I was shocked, amused and disgusted to read of the attacks on the Nebraska University professor, Dr. E. N. Anderson. Shocked because Dr. Anderson was my teacher and an adviser for some four years. Amused because I know Dr. Anderson to be most anti-Communist, as any of his pupils will testify. And disgusted to think that Lincoln, which is supposed to be a civilized American city would have among its citizens some who would stoop so low as to attack a book about which they know little and thereby to endanger the reputation of a professor about whom they must have known even less.

A close examination of the report of the Legion meeting at which the attack on this book and on teachers in general was made reveals that Mr. Vinardi apparently hit upon this method of publicity to overcome the membership problems of the local post. The ironic thing is that the Legion itself must never have taken the pledge required of Lincoln teachers (about which the Legion did not know) since it pledges their belief in the United States of America . . . "established upon those principles of freedom, equality, justice and humanity for which American patriots sacrificed their lives and fortunes" and "opposition to all organizations and activities that would destroy our present form of government."

Why does the American Legion which has done much that it can be proud of—such as Boys State of which I was a member in 1947—allow its reputation to be tarnished by those few of its members who are publicity seekers?

Book-burning is not the answer.

Dinner For Two

Lincoln, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: With the approach of the holidays, I think it would be a splendid gesture on Harry's part to invite Joe McCarthy to a nice dinner. He really owes Joe a debt of gratitude for convincing him that Uncle Joe Stalin has been hanging his Red and Pink stockings on Uncle Sam's Christmas tree. It should be a nice dinner. McCarthy doesn't care for vodka or Red herring—and by the way, he plays the piano, too.

In History And Hearts

Pawnee City, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: In regard to the controversy over the Bryan statue, it seems to this reader that Mr. Bryan has made his place in history and in the hearts of the many who appreciate his contributions to this state and to this nation as a truly great statesman and Christian citizen. This place cannot be destroyed by insulting his memory by removing or even destroying his statue, as one writer suggested. It cannot matter very much what is done with the statue.

The deplorable thing about the controversy is the pettiness on the part of those who instigated the idea of removing the statue from its present location.

CHRISTMAS SHOPPING

Once a year I go shopping. It is not a chore for which I am suited, since I cannot stand contempt, and of all the people who feel contempt for me, clerks feel the most. I never know what I want.

For 11 months and 30 days out of the year Mrs. F. does the shopping for the family with only occasional exceptions such as suits and fishing equipment.

It would be craven cowardice, though, to ask Mrs. F. to buy her own Christmas present. I can put up with ordinary cowardice in myself, but craven cowardice is too superlative even for me—so this is the time of year when I go shopping. I went yesterday.

☆ ☆ ☆

The first store I went into was very crowded. A clerk bore down upon me, his face already beginning to twist in contempt.

"You wish something in girdles?" he asked.

"Look, bud," I retorted, covering up my confusion. "I am a married man, and if my wife were to hear you—"

He looked bewildered, and I escaped to the earring department, which in turn offered an easy exit to the handbag aisle. For years handbags have appealed to me as something on which a man cannot go too far wrong. They have, you might say, been my specialty. They are good for Christmas, birthdays, Easter and getting out of the doghouse.

A clerk came and said, could he help me, and I said, brother! I wished he could, and did he think that a woman who had so many handbags stored in the attic that she couldn't find room for a hat box would like another handbag for Christmas? He double-crossed me! He said no.

☆ ☆ ☆

This left nothing else to do but wander around through costume jewelry, furniture, toys, negligees, cosmetics, kitchen appliances, gowns, fabrics, silverware, glassware, washing machines and hairpins. Clerks in each department got well acquainted with me, and seemed glad to direct me to other departments. The clerks are better trained this year. They don't sneer quite so much.

I might have found something, too, except that by accident I got into the sporting goods department, and by the time I was through trying on hunting jackets the store was closing.

Tomorrow I'm going back. Maybe there will be another clerk in the handbag department—one who is more co-operative!

57-Yr.-Old Woman Found Fatally Burned

No Definite Blaze Cause Determined

OMAHA (AP) — Mrs. Mabel Barnes, about 57, of Omaha, burned to death in her bed Thursday, Douglas County Coroner George Sullivan said.

Mrs. Barnes, an invalid with only one leg, was found by a neighbor about 9 a.m.

Sullivan said the neighbor entered the house and found it full of smoke. The fire, which he said apparently had burned in the bed "most of the night," was confined to the bed clothing.

Preliminary investigation showed no definite cause for the fire. Fire department investigators said there was a possibility that smoking in bed was responsible.

The coroner said Mrs. Barnes' husband, Frank, a retired printer, is convalescing in an Omaha hospital.

Shubert Boy Recovers From Burns; Pulled From Blazing Vehicle

FALLS CITY, Neb. (INS)—Ronald Wolfe, 16-year-old Shubert, Neb., boy who was pulled from a burning auto by another Shubert youth, has been rleased from the Falls City hospital after two months of treatment, including skin grafting.

Dale Berg, 20, saved Wolfe's life by dragging him from the fiery wreck the night of October 23. Berg also underwent long and painful treatment for burns he suffered in the successful rescue.

Iowa Builder Drops Charges On Tax Agents

COUNCIL BLUFFS (AP)—A motion to dismiss charges brought against two Internal Revenue agents by Builder Robert Friel was made Thursday before U. S. Commissioner Addison C. Kistle.

There was "not one scrap of evidence to sustain" the charges said Assistant U. S. District Attorney G. I. Level of Des Moines in making the motion.

The agents, Fred A. Nimitz, 46, Council Bluffs, and Edward Kelley, 28, Omaha, are charged with breaking and entering with intent to commit larceny in connections with the serving of a tax lien notice.

Friel swore out the warrants against the pair last month after they went to the home of his parents in connection with a $42,7274 tax lien against Friel.

Friel claimed the agents entered the home of his parents "after being warned against it by my mother." The agents said, however, they were invited in, served the notice and left.

Switchman Hurt In Rail Yard Accident

OMAHA (INS) — Martin C. Haas, 49, Omaha railroad switchman, was reported in "satisfactory" condition at a local hospital after being pinned between a railroad car and a loading dock at the Union Pacific yards.

Hospital attendants said he suffered serious internal injuries.

Haas was uncoupling a dining car at the Union Pacific commissary dock and was caught when the coupling pin failed to disengage.

Officers said the clearance between the car and the dock was only nine inches. The train had to be backed up to release the injured man, they added.

Statehood Seen For Hawaiians

SAN FRANCISCO (INS)—Sen. Hugh Butler (R-Neb) predicted that Hawaii will become the 49th state of the union shortly.

Butler, returning from Hawaii aboard a Pan-American World Airways plane, said:

"I am inclined to think the coming Congress will pass Hawaiian statehood."

He said he believes Sen. William Knowland (R-Calif) will introduce a bill for Hawaiian statehood and added that many other proponents of the plan will want their names on the bill too.

Butler will be chairman of the senate interior and insular affairs committee. He spent three weeks in Hawaii studying the problem of the Pacific trust islands.

State Farm Marketing Cash Receipts Drop

Crop Return Higher Than During 1951

WASHINGTON (AP)—Nebraska, like almost all the other west north central agricultural states, showed a drop in cash receipts from farm marketings January through October as compared to 1951.

Cornhusker farmers received $921,744,000 the first 10 months of this year. For that period a year ago they counted $956,738,000.

This year's January-October income from livestock and products was $645,244,000. A year ago it was $700,678,000. But the return from crops was up, $276,500,000 as against $256,060,000.

Kansas Shows Hike

Of the seven west north central farm belt states only Kansas farmers showed a hike in income this year. The Kansas income was $1,202,972,000 as compared with $880,289,000 in 1951.

The Agriculture Department's report on farm income gave these figures for the other states; with the 1951 totals in parentheses:

Iowa, $1,820,640,000 ($1,917,651,000); Minnesota, $1,043,670,000 ($1,050,399,000); Missouri, $903,915,000 ($934,001,000); North Dakota $423,489,000 ($471,750,000); and South Dakota, $449,172,000 ($498,685,000).

Iowa, as is generally the case, led the farm belt states in total farm income for the 10 months period. But No. 1 for the whole country was California, with $2,224,010,000, as against $2,087,841,000 a year ago.

Other states with total farm income exceeding a billion dollars January through October were Texas $1,729,571,000; Illinois, $1,623,544,000; Kansas, $1,202,972,000 and Minnesota, $1,043,670,000.

Arlen Assault Case Is Heard In York Court

YORK, Neb. (AP)—Jack H. Arlen, 39, former Lincoln drug store manager, was bound over to District Court Thursday on a charge of assault with intent to commit murder.

Arlen was given a preliminary hearing before County Judge Herman Glock. Bond was set at $5,000.

Arlen is accused of shooting Sally Powell, 35, of York with a shotgun while she lay in bed at her home early Oct. 24. A short time before the shooting, Arlen had escaped from the Lancaster County jail.

One Witness

Bradford Conway of York, a guest in Mrs. Powell's home, was the only witness at Thursday's hearing.

Conway told of being awakened the morning of Oct. 24 by a shotgun blast which struck Mrs. Powell, causing her to lose an eye.

Conway said he grappled with the assailant, wrenching the gun from him. He identified the man as Arlen.

Arlen earlier pleaded innocent to the charge upon arraignment before Judge Glock. Arlen is under a one year sentence in the State Penitentiary for his escape from jail in Lincoln. He originally was sentenced to jail for six months on a charge of possession of obscene photographs.

The next session of the District Court here is expected to be held in January or early February.

HospitalBed Shortage In State Told

5,183 Said Needed As Of Last Jan. 1

WASHINGTON (AP)—Nebraska had about two-thirds the hospital beds it needed last Jan. 1 to meet standards set in the Public Health Act.

A report by the staff of the Joint Committee on The Economic Report made public Thursday showed that Nebraska had 10,650 beds—5,183 short of the number considered needed to provide adequate hospital service.

Information furnished by the U.S. Public Health Service showed a national backlog in needed construction totaling about 852,000 beds.

Figuring the average cost per bed at $16,000, the report said an outlay of nearly 14 billion dollars would be required to fulfill this need.

Colorado was closest of the states to furnishing adequate hospital service, the report said. That state had met 76.8 per cent of its needs with 12,578 beds. At the other end was Alabama, with only 30.7 per cent of beds needed. Its total was 11,542.

State School Buildings Increased

Among Greatest 1952 Improvements—Decker

By JOHN CHANAN
Associated Press Staff Writer

One of the greatest improvements in Nebraska education in the past year has been in the school building situation, State Supt. F. B. Decker declared Thursday.

Construction totaling 12 million dollars was completed, and 25 million more has reached the plans or is under way.

"We're just now catching up to where we should have been, if it had not been for World War II," Decker commented.

"Many school buildings were terrifically overcrowded. Others had worn out and normally would have been replaced eight or ten years ago, excepting for the war," he continued.

Projects Listed

Among projects completed during the past year: A senior high school at Beatrice, costing $1,000,000; elementary school and high school addition at Broken Bow, $375,000; three elementary buildings at Fremont, $450,000; three elementary buildings at Kearney, $950,000; two elementary buildings at Lexington, $410,000; elementary buildings at McCook, $228,000.

Also a high school addition at Norfolk, $70,000; junior high school at North Platte, $832,000; two elementary buildings at Omaha, $800,000.

Hastings is planning to spend $1,950,000 for a new senior high school and several elementary additions; Grand Island has a four million dollar program planned, including a new senior high school, a new elementary building and some additions. Fairbury is planning two new elementary buildings; North Platte plans to spend $881,000 for two new elementary buildings.

Omaha plans to spend 4½ million more, and Lincoln has launched a six million dollar school building program.

Teacher Shortage

Scottsbluff finished its post-war school building program two years ago at a cost of $900,000.

The most serious problem Nebraska schools face is an inadequate supply of elementary teachers.

"And we can see no immediate relief," Decker commented.

"Probably the best solution would be a reasonable re-districting program. It isn't a teacher shortage as much as it is that there are too many schools," he continued.

Thousands of teachers are teaching just handfuls of youngsters, when these same teachers could be teaching larger numbers if we had re-districting. Nebraska has 6,400 school districts, more than any other state in the union.

There has been some progress in this direction. Nebraska had 7,255 school districts in 1930. The number of small two-year high schools has reduced from more than 100 to 18.

School costs continue to rise. The per-pupil cost for rural schools has risen from $39 to $228 in 25 years, while for town schools it has jumped from $76 to $186.

One encouraging thing is the increase in the number of schools offering kindergarten instruction. It has risen from 137 to more than 2,500 in 25 years.

Professor Thanks Students For Support

Dr. E. N. Anderson, University of Nebraska history professor, has thanked the university's students for coming to his support in the controversy over his use of an Institute of Pacific Relations book in a history course last year.

"When a person is threatened with moral outlawry," wrote Dr. Anderson in a guest editorial, "he is deeply moved by the aid which others give to him and to the ideals for which he stands . . .

Equal Value

". . . I justify this seeming inflation of my own importance by the belief that in a democracy every individual bears by nature an equal value with every other individual and that an attack on intellectual freedom as represented by any one of us must be repelled . . ."

In defense of the IPR textbook, "The State of Asia," Dr. Anderson wrote that no other book covering the subject could be found.

". . . Since I am not an expert on the Far East, "he continued, "I read the reviews of the book by scholars in that field, and finding them favorable I followed their judgment. On the basis of my knowledge about the subject, I occasionally disagreed with the details in the book, but I found no Communism or even pinkism in it and I have not seen any accusation against the contents of the volume . . ."

In making the choice, Dr. Anderson noted that two alternatives were left him: Either use the book and run the risk of being attacked, or deprive the students of learning about contemporary Asia.

Once the book was decided upon, both he and the class criticized it, the professor reported. Other books were read and the individual students arrived at their own conclusions: ". . . No one tried to dictate what the other should think; we acted as any class does in studying a subject, particularly one as full of controversial topics as that of the Far East . . ."

Noting that the Institute of Pacific Relations had long been considered a leading research organization on the Far East, he wrote:

". . . A person could not possibly study about that area without using its publications. It has a board of directors of some of the most distinguished lawyers, educators, businessmen and newspaper editors to be found in the country.

Contributors Named

"The chairman of the board of directors was in 1951, the latest information I have seen, Mr. Gerald Swope of the General Electric Company and among the contributors of funds were the Chase National Bank, International Telegraph and Telephone Company and Standard Vacuum Oil Company . . ."

As for the importance of the controversy for intellectual freedom, Dr. Anderson wrote:

". . . The issue concerns the preservation of the integrity of our educational institutions, our press, radio, churches and other organizations for public enlightenment. If we allow one organization to determine what we shall read and teach, then we must expect others to claim the same right.

"Before long, a professor choosing a textbook will be like a Congressional committee holding hearings on a bill. . . .By the time the hearings are concluded, the professor will have despaired of teaching the course or will abandon teaching for good. . . ."

The accusation that academic freedom is held by some to mean the public has no right to criticize the university Anderson termed "not just."

". . . .Criticism from the public," he continued, "can be either destructive or constructive; it is eminently worthwhile when it is constructive and given us not by way of the newspapers but by the way of proper channels. . . ."

Reviewing his first-hand knowledge of the disintegration of the German society following World War II as a result of fear and mistrust, he wrote:

". . . .My great concern about this present episode arises from the manifest lack of respect for the integrity and sense of public responsibility of teachers and from the apparent will to sow mistrust among us.

"I do not believe that any individual or any organization holds a monopoly of wisdom, virtue or loyalty. . . ."

Governor Approval Doesn't Endow Act With Legality—Beck

"The governor's repeated approval of his own unconstitutional act (approving increased pay for the state insurance commissioner) cannot endow that act with legality," Attorney General C. S. Beck argued in a brief filed in Supreme Court Thursday in upholding the action of Auditor Ray Johnson in refusing to pay the increase to Loren H. Laughlin.

The brief contended that Laughlin has a term of office and that the governor has power to fix his salary during such term but that it may not be changed more than once in eight years under the Constitution. It was changed in 1945.

Laughlin had filed an original action in mandamus seeking a peremptory writ to force the auditor to pay the increased wage. The legislature in 1951 fixed the salary of the director of insurance at $6,500. It had been set at $5,000 in 1945.

Two Controversial Zone Requests Are Held Over By Board

Two controversial zoning requests were laid over to Jan. 8 by the City Zoning Board of Appeals.

The Board acted on the request of the applicants for the continuance. Attorney B. Frank Watson, representing objectors to the zoning changes, agreed to the continuance.

The applications are:

Bethany Lumber Co., change from residence to commercial B at 2140 No. 65th to continue present non-conforming lumber usage.

C. R. Barmore, residence to industrial at 2139 No. 65th to continue present non-conforming industrial use.

The Board also adopted a change in its meeting dates. The group will meet every two weeks beginning Jan. 8. The Board has been meeting every first and third Thursday.

Three zoning applications were approved by the Board. They were:

Russell H. and Wylma Lee Bradley, apartment A to apartment B at 4834 Bancroft.

Tastee Inn, Inc., continuation of local business to include lot at 1532 No. 48th.

Dorothy Schweitzer, waiver of setback requirements to rebuild foundation at 1315 B.

McGranery Bans 'Outside Jobs' For 15,000

WASHINGTON (INS) — Attorney General McGranery Thursday imposed a strict ban on outside jobs for 15,000 Justice Department employees including lawyers and workers down to the clerk and stenographer level.

The order is effective Jan. 1, 1953, for all except U. S. attorneys and their assistants, who will be barred from private practice after Jan. 1, 1954.

McGranery said the year's delay for those officials was granted because their pay has been fixed on the understanding that they could accept private legal work after government office hours.

The Attorney General leaves office Jan. 20 when the Democratic administration ends, but a department spokesman said he believed McGranery's successor, Herbert Brownell Jr., would keep the new rules.

Order Hailed

The two top members of the House subcommittee investigating the department hailed the Attorney General's order. Chairman Chelf (D-Ky) called it "a splendid rule," and added:

"This is what we've been getting at."

Rep. Keating (R-NY), ranking GOP member of the committee, said: "I agree. We've brought up plenty of cases to justify that."

McGranery's action followed sharp criticism of the department by a special House investigating subcommittee.

McGranery said that only "unusual circumstances" would allow department lawyers and other employees to engage in private work.

Four Have Left

Since McGranery began his campaign against outside activities last June, four U. S. attorneys have left government service. They are:

Lester Luther, U. S. attorney for Kansas. McGranery accused him of fee-splitting.

Howard L. Doyle, U. S. attorney for the southern district of Illinois, suspended at his own request after telling House probers that he received $86,500 in outside income between 1945 and 1950.

Tobias E. Diamond, former U. S. attorney for Iowa, who resigned under fire Nov. 9. Diamond appeared before a House subcommittee this week in connection with charges that he used his government office to collect bills for a private client.

James G. Mackey, U. S. attorney on Guam, who submitted his resignation to President Truman last week with the request that it be effective Jan. 20. Instead, Mr. Truman made it effective immediately.

No Need Seen For Great Change In Ag Policy

Describing this nation's agricultural policy as "remarkably consistent throughout the years," Rep. Clifford A. Hope (R-Kan) declared Thursday "there is no need for any great changes in policy."

The chairman-to-be of the House Agricultural Committee speaking before the USDA Club meeting in Lincoln, predicted "no new legislation on agriculture, but a great deal of study on existing legislation and policy during the next session of Congress."

Rep. Hope

He hailed the Agricultural Act of 1938 as one of the great pieces of legislation of all time and praised the forward - looking measure as based on expansion of agriculture and not on the "mature or static farm economy philosophy of the depression years.

Salient points of an agricultural policy listed by the congressman are:

1. Stability of prices. With the capital and machinery needed in farm operation today, there is as much necessity of price stabilization as in any industry. It was different when the individual farm was a self-sufficient unit.

Need Expansion

2. Research and education need expansion. They have been neglected during the past 10 or 12 years with appropriations merely matching increased costs.

3. Soil conservation activities. The whole concept must be expanded, including the controversial watershed program.

4. Better marketing system, including expansion of co-operative marketing and marketing of perishable products. Marketing agreements should be expanded.

5. Change in the agricultural program to give the farmer and producer more say in government. Farmers can contribute valuable ideas after many years of experience with existing farm programs.

45 Pct. Increase

Since 1940 agricultural production has increased 45 per cent and per capita consumption during the war increased 19 per cent. Based on population predictions, Hope said production must be increased 1½ per cent each year to keep pace with the present standard of living.

The Missouri Basin Survey Commission member said land availability is now static: that the amount of reclaimed land each year will probably only keep pace with the land absorbed by urban areas, military installations, and others.

One of the great problems we face, he said, is the removal of fertile land from agricultural use in the face of needed production increases.

Dams, flood control projects and military installations, the great users of land, will be viewed more critically as to land needs in the future, he said.

"So much legislation has resulted since the Franklin Roosevelt administration, that it seems like we have had no previous agricultural policy," Hope said. But, he explained, all farm measures have been consistent with their legislative forerunners beginning in the Lincoln administration—although both legislation and policy has become more complex as agriculture evolved into an industry.

The State Capitol will be closed on Christmas Day and New Year's Day. The building will be open on Friday and Saturday following both the holidays.

Arrangements are being made for state employees to have time off on Friday and Saturday following one of the two holidays. However, each department will have a sufficient staff to conduct business as usual.

City Ponds Are Still Too Thin For Ice Skating, Suiker Warns

Superintendent of Parks Glenn Suiker has issued a stern warning that ice on city ponds is still too thin to allow skating.

"We are making daily checks on the thickness of the ice," said Suiker," and will report when it is ready. Until then, however, skating is highly dangerous and someone could easily be drowned by falling through the thin ice."

When an extended cold spell does make skating safe, there will be more of it this year than last. Two new areas will be opened to skating for the first time this year.

The areas are the new concrete slabs at Peter Pan Park on No. 33rd and the Cooper Park at 7th and F.

City Recreation Department crews are at work now preparing shelter houses for skaters at the two locations. Both slabs will be flooded when the weather warrants it.

The Recreation Department is converting an old pump house at Peter Pan into a shelter House. Windows are being repaired, the roof leaks fixed and an oil heater installed.

At Cooper, the shelter will be a new construction. Recreation Director James Lewis said work is nearly completed on the shelter fireplace at Cooper.

Both shelter houses should be ready in about one week, said Lewis. Both concrete slabs are 120 by 120 feet.

The Holiday Blueprints Give Many New Angles

THE BLUEPRINTS for the holidays show some very interesting angles—Of course there are more guests to mention, and this morning we learned of this one and that one who were taking off, come early week, to spend the holidays away from home—

We also learned that the week-end is generously sprinkled with parties—family affairs, most of them, but parties nevertheless—and we heard, too, of members of the school set who have arrived or who are arriving within the next day or two—In fact, we heard so much that it would take time to tell it all—and we'd better begin—now.

* * *

MRS. HERBERT E. Gooch, we hear, leaves on Monday for Omaha where she will spend the holidays with her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Dana Bradford and their family—

* * *

EARLY WEEK also will find Mr. and Mrs. William R. Wright on their way to Sidney for a holiday visit with their son-in-law and daughter, Dr. and Mrs. Max Cory, and their family.

* * *

SUNDAY IS "leaving" day for Mr. and Mrs. John P. Miller who will go to Clinton, Ia., to spend the holidays with members of Mrs. Miller's family, and numerous friends. Mr. and Mrs. Miller plan to return home early in January.

Arriving in Lincoln Thursday to spend the holidays were Miss Jan Ziegenbein (left) and Miss Terry Nolan who will be the houseguests of Miss Ziegenbein's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Ziegenbein.

The guests, who are members of the cast of the Roller Skating Vanities which is currently touring the midwest, must leave on Christmas day to rejoin the show at Indianapolis, Ind.

Miss Nolan, a native of London, England, has been a professional skater since she was fifteen years old, and came to the United States in 1951. Miss Ziegenbein has been with the Vanities cast since early this fall.

WHEN MRS. S. M. Bixny left Thursday for California it was not merely a holiday visit she had in mind—However Mrs. Bixny, who will stay for the winter in California arranged to be there in time to spend Christmas with her son-in-law and daughter, Lt. Com. and Mrs. W. O. McDowell (formerly of Lincoln) and their two sons, John and Jim. The navy air corps officer, we hear, leaves in January for duty in the Pacific theater.

* * *

THERE ARE travelers among the young set, too—Miss Susie Chesen, for instance, left Thursday evening for Denver where she will spend Christmas with her brother-in-law and sister, Dr. and Mrs. Irving Zeavin and their family. She plans to return home on December 26.

* * *

THE GUEST list is thriving this morning—First we heard that Mrs. John G. Horner of Long Beach, Cal., would be arriving today to spend the holidays with her son-in-law and daughter, Dr. and Mrs. L. D. Arnot—

* * *

AND THEN someone told us that Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ashton of Chicago, would arrive early next week to spend Christmas as the guests of Mr. Ashton's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. John O. Cherry County Ranchers Oppose Part Of Niobrara Basin Plan

Danger Of Open Ditch Is Argued

VALENTINE, Neb. (AP)—Cherry County ranchers took a firm stand Thursday against part of the proposed Niobrara Basin development plan.

About 20 persons addressed a hearing on the project. Most of them were opposed.

The ranchers' arguments hit hardest at two things:

The effect of the project on their own ground water supply, and the danger of open ditches to their cattle.

Support Urged

Dr. George E. Condra, chairman of the Soil Conservation Division at the University of Nebraska and Geology Professor A. L. Lugn, also of the university, were called on to support the ranchers' case.

Dr. Condra said that "an open canal through the Sandhills will lose water." He recommended it be routed well to the north of the affected area.

Dr. Lugn said the canal and Merritt Reservoir on the Snake River could cause seepage. He explained that the reservoir, built at a higher level than the ranchland, could work just like a city water system in forcing out ground water.

'Won't Be Hurt'

Dr. Condra, however, promised ranchers that he would see to it that if the project was carried out, they would not be hurt.

Elmer Mecke, engineer for the Sandhills Conservation Association—the rancher organization formed to fight the project—offered a resolution that the governor not make any recommendation on the project and suggested it be given up to 10 years more study.

Jack Copeland, a Valentine attorney, presented a petition signed by 38 land owners in the area of the proposed Boiling Springs project south of Cody, contended the project would inundate ranch land in that vicinity.

A total of 196 persons registered for the meeting, the third in a series of four. The final hearing will be held Friday at Gordon.

S. Claus Will Find More Mail Than Usual From Lincoln Tots

When a certain S. Claus of the North Pole arrives in Lincoln this year he will find a heavier-than-usual packet of mail awaiting him.

The letters are being held for his arrival at the Lincoln post office by Postmaster O. E. Jerner, and, to date, the number of letters is running about 100 ahead of previous Yule seasons.

Knowing that Santa, before the addition of Rudolph, the Red-Nose Reindeer to his sleigh, had trouble on foggy nights finding the right address, a seven-year-old thoughtfully advised that she had moved from Chicago to Lincoln and carefully included her new address.

May Be Visiting

Another told Santa that if he didn't find her in Lincoln, that she would be visiting her Grandmother in another state.

Among the letters, which mother helped to write, there was a promise that "he is going to be a good boy and do what his mommie says."

Most all letters attest to exemplary behavior, or at least—promises to do better.

"If you have enough toys to go around I would like a record player most," one little girl writes. "Then I would like a doctor's set and anything else you think I would like."

Twenty-seven Items Asked

One letter listing 14 items for the writer and 13 for baby brother said "I know lots of other boys who want toys too and I don't want to be selfish, so just bring me what you can."

Typically the boys want bicycles, electric trains, sleds, and mechanical toys, while the little girls request dolls with permanent kits, layettes, dresses, cribs, and miniature kitchen and dining equipment.

However, one item seemed common to both—two-guns with holsters.

A number of Christmas greeting cards were addressed to Santa and attached to many letters were promises for things to eat awaiting Santa in the kitchen or by the fireplace.

Among the more colorful letters were several apparently written to Santa as part of a classroom project. These evidently didn't reach home, but were dropped into the nearest mail box on the way from school.

One little girl wanted her order partially filled before Christmas while another wrote: "I can't tell you what I want till Christmas."

Some letters, written in childish scrawls, are unreadable by any person other than Santa Calus, himself. There is little doubt but what he will be able to learn what is in each child's heart.

Preventative For Rheumatic Fever Studied

NEW YORK (INS)—Two scientists reported Thursday that once-a-month injections with a new kind of penicillin may prevent rheumatic fever—and its crippling heart damage—in children.

The same monthly treatment in adults may also give long-lasting protection against pneumonia, gonorrhea, meningitis and syphilis, the doctors added.

The new penicillin, called bicillin, stays in the body for as long as four weeks after a single injection—at levels high enough to kill infecting germs during that entire period.

An injection on the first of the month, for example, might still give protection against exposure to disease on the 15th or 20th. With ordinary penicillin, three injections a day would be needed.

Kills Germs

Drs. Gene H. Stollerman of Hastings-on-Hudson, N. Y., and Jerome H. Rusoff of New York City describe elaborate tests with Bicillin in the current Journal of the American Medical Association.

They write that the new drug is as effective as ordinary penicillin in killing streptococcus germs—a cause of rheumatic fever—before the heart-damaging disease has a chance to develop.

In children who already have suffered rheumatic fever, bicillin may prevent recurrences by warding off re-infection with the streptococcus germs.

Even minor throat infections with these germs may cause rheumatic fever, the doctors noted, and often they go unnoticed. But they said the bicillin treatment provides enough antibiotic to stop such infections.

Three-Hour Jail Sentence Given Diplomat's Wife

ARLINGTON, Va. (AP) — Mrs. Phyllis Penn Kohler, wife of a State Department career diplomat, was convicted of a drunken driving charge Thursday and was given a 30-day jail term and fined $150.

Arlington County Court Judge Paul D. Brown suspended all but three hours of the jail sentence. He told Mrs. Kohler that in a case such as hers he wanted her to see "the inside of the jail."

Mrs. Kohler's attorney immediately gave notice of an appeal. It was set for trial at next term of Circuit Court two months hence.

Filing of the appeal action automatically halted both the fine and the three-hour jail sentence. Bond of $500 was posted for Mrs. Kohler's appearance at the Circuit Court hearing.

Three Arlington County police officers and a taxicab driver testified they believed Mrs. Kohler was intoxicated early Dec. 6 when her car sheered off a telephone pole. Her husband Foy D. Kohler, a member of Secretary of State Acheson's policy planning staff, was with her. He did not attend the trial and Mrs. Kohler did not testify.

There was bare mention in the testimony of a brief case which Kohler had with him at the time of the accident.

Water Board To Give Recommendations To City

The City Water Advisory Board will submit to the City Council Monday a complete and detailed report on recommended improvements, to Lincoln's water supply.

Board Chairman Byron Dunn said his committee has been working long hours on their report for the past two weeks.

"We will make definite recommendations," he said, "on the water plan to be carried out. Our recommendations will be specific and clear so there is no doubt as to our intentions."

The report, said Dunn, will be 15 or 16 pages long. It will set forth those parts of the Black & Veatch improvement plan which should be undertaken at once and those parts which should come later.

Black & Veatch, consulting engineers from Kansas City, Mo., made their report late in October. That report called for immediate improvements of $8,500,000 and additional water system improvements of $1,950,000 within the next 15 years.

On the Advisory Board besides Dunn are Ernest L. Smith, William I. Aitken, Ted Sick and Dean O. J. Ferguson.

'Faith In God' Is Credited For Long Life

OMAHA (AP) — A man, who credits his "faith in God" for a long life, has observed his 96th birthday.

He is F. M. Schmidt, who is the unofficial checker champion of his Omaha neighborhood.

Schmidt got up Wednesday, had breakfast amid congratulatory messages from friends and bragged: "You know, I've never missed a breakfast in 96 years."

He uses a cane only when he goes outside for a stroll and claims his hearing is "almost as good as new." He reads as often as not without his glasses.

Schmidt admitted he was pretty good at checkers. "I can beat most of 'em if I put my mind to it," he said.

He lives with a son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Murphy.

CV Topped—Literally—By Plattsmouth, 51-41

By WAYNE PANTER
Star Sports Staff Member

AGGRESSIVENESS, hustle, and team play proved to be too little for College View to overcome Plattsmouth as the Viewmen bowed to the favored Blue Devils, 51-41, on the Irving court Thursday night.

The one thing that the Viewmen don't have—height—proved in the long run to be the thing that beat them, both offensively and defensively.

Coach Dick Short's Hilltoppers were compelled to rely upon shots as far out as Plattsmouth's lanky center, six-foot, six-inch Jim Jacques, patrolled the area in front of the bucket with an umbrella-like paw.

Offensively, the Blue Devils used the drive-ins and one-handed efforts of a nifty forward-guard combination, John Ahrens and Tom Conis, to put together four, three and seven point advantages in the first three periods to leave the Viewmen too much of a deficit to make up.

Jacques proved effective offensively, too, capturing a half-dozen field goals on rebound efforts. Ahrens had 13 points and Conis 12.

High scoring honors for the evening, however, went to little Paul Westbrook, sparkling CV guard, who flipped in seven fielders and had a four-for-four mark at the charity line for an 18-point total.

Only twice during the evening did the Viewmen hold a lead. After Coach Merle Stewart's club hurried to a 5-0 edge in the first four minutes, Center Bill Thierstein hit for a pair of fielders and Westbrook sank a bucket and two charities while Ahrens was hitting once from the field to give College View a short-lived 8-7 edge.

Forward Dick Beverage tied it up with a free throw before Forward Dick (Woody) Oaks gave the Viewmen their last lead at 10-8 on a drive-in. Ahrens hit a pair of buckets and Jacques sank one from in front of the board to make it 14-10, Plattsmouth at the quarter.

After a slow second heat which saw the Blue Devils leading, 22-15, at halftime, Plattsmouth lashed out for a fat 20 points which all but sewed up the game despite the heroic efforts of Westbrook, who salted away eight of College View's 13 points during the period.

Oaks, Viewman scoring leader to date, found it a bad evening. He hit for but two points before collecting his fourth foul during the second quarter and saw most of the game from the bench. The remainder of his seven-point total came late in the game after most of the Plattsmouth varsity was out. Stewart used but six players until midway in the fourth heat.

Thierstein and Westbrook were virtually the whole show for the Viewmen from the scoring angle. Thierstein hooked in four buckets and one for one for a nine point total.

Coach Tom Gillaspie's reserve crew captured the curtain raiser, 40-35, to enable the Hilltoppers to salvage a part of the glory.

Rival Indian Group Wins Bitter Intra-Club Battle

By HOWARD BABCOCK

CLEVELAND (INS)—Ellis Ryan tossed in the towel as president of the Cleveland Indians Thursday night and agreed to sell his 600 shares of stock to a group headed by Stadium Operations Chief Nate Dolin.

Ryan and five members of the board of directors who were supporting him took the action after a seven-hour special stockholders meeting in Cleveland Stadium. The deposed club officials, however, will temporarily remain on the board of directors—at least until the annual stockholders' meeting Jan. 12.

New president of the club is Myron H. Wilson Jr., general agent for the Wilson, McBride & Company affiliate of the Crown Insurance Company of Toronto.

Ryan said after the meeting that he resigned "with personal regrets" and added: ". . . We think we have done the best thing for baseball and that is what we are all after."

Wilson, the new head man, said that he accepts the job "as a means of restoring unity to baseball in Cleveland."

He continued: "I have the utmost confidence in Hank Greenberg, our general manager, and he has assured me that he will continue in that capacity."

Wilson reportedly was a "compromise candidate" for the Dolin group, which agreed to purchase 1,300 shares of stock from Ryan and the five directors. George Medinger, vice-president of the club, originally was named as the man to succeed Ryan if and when the latter was ousted as president.

Wilson, who holds about 50 shares of stock in the club, was proxy at Thursday's meeting for George Creadon, Standard Brewing Company president who owns 100 shares.

The other five directors who agreed to sell out are B. F. Bernet, Joseph H. Broderick, Dave Jones, Guy Waters, and Jack B. Johns.

They will sell their shares to C. M. Baxter, M. A. Baxter, Don Hornbeck, Harry Small, George Medinger and Dolin. Selling price of the stock was not disclosed but is believed to be in the vicinity of $600 a share.

The action climaxed the rift in the Cleveland front office which started last summer when Ryan purchased the Indianapolis club of the American Association allegedly without the consent of the board of directors. The club was a financial loss.

Earlier Thursday, a new board of directors was elected by some 30 stockholders and proxy votes, with only one change from the old board, that being the replacement of Loring Gelbach by Wilson on the Dolin side.

The action brings to an end Ryan's three-year tenure as president of the club. He and a syndicate of seven men purchased the club from Bill Veeck, owner of the St. Louis Browns, for $2,200,000 in the fall of 1949, a year after the Indians won the pennant.

The club's policies, however, were generally formed by General Manager Hank Greenberg. After the Indianapolis incident, members of the Dolin group became irate and Ryan admittedly agreed to sell out. Newspaper reports, however, egged him on and Thursday's meeting was called by the Dolin group after Ryan announced that he and the five directors would not sell their stock.

Sugar Ray Makes It Official: He'll Quit Boxing To Dance

By JACK HAND

NEW YORK (AP)—Middleweight champion Sugar Ray Robinson positively retired from the ring Thursday to devote his time to his business and dancing career, making the announcement through Abe Greene, commissioner of the National Boxing Association in a backhanded punch at the New York State Athletic Commission.

As New York Stripped Robinson of his title Dec. 4 for not defending within six months, the 32-year-old Harlem dandy made his formal retirement through Greene in a mimeographed release.

Sugar Ray, one of boxing's all time greats with only three defeats in a brilliant career of 137 pro fights, said in an interview:

"At this stage of my career I don't feel I can give my followers the best I have. I don't want to let them down.

"A lot of very big people, and I mean very big people, in boxing put a lot of pressure on me to go through with a Randy Turpin match. But I felt I should have made this announcement long before so I made up my mind all of a sudden.

"I don't want to be like a lot of others who didn't retire in time."

Robinson won't have to worry. He has a bar and grill, a beer and ale distributing agency, a lingerie shop, a barbershop, a cleaning establishment and a real estate office in Harlem.

The Robinson announcement hardly was a bombshell. There had been rumors of his retirement ever since his collapse in the intense heat after 13 rounds with Joey Maxim last June 25.

Robinson won his first 40 fights as a pro after a sensational start as an amateur. His first loss was to Jake La Motta in 1943, Jake's only win in their six-bout series. Draws with Jose Basora in 1945 and Henry Brimm in 1949 were the only other blots until he was beaten by Turpin in a tremendous upset at London in July, 1951. Robinson evened matters with a 10th round TKO over the British champ to recapture his title in September, 1951.

He was winning easily from Maxim in June when he collapsed from the heat and was unable to come out for the 14th. Until the collapse he looked like a sure thing to add the light heavy crown to his possessions.

TCU Falls To Missouri, 55-45

COLUMBIA, Mo. (AP)—The University of Missouri edged into the final three minutes with a three-point lead, then capitalized on Texas Christian fouls the rest of the way to defeat the Frogs 55-45 before a crowd of more than 3,000 here Thursday night.

Hank Ohlen, whose hook shot was the main Frog threat, put the visitors away to a four point lead in the first 20 seconds.

The Missourians closed the gap and trailed the visitors by only one point at the end of the first quarter and by two points at halftime.

Then the Frogs had a cold third quarter, with the Tigers outscoring them, 18-19 in that frame to take a 42-35 lead—a margin big enough to stand up the rest of the way.

Clark Is A's New PR Chief

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Tom Clark, 32, Martinsville, Va., Thursday was named public relations director of the Philadelphia Athletics of the American Baseball League.

Clark, a former newspaperman, has served as business manager for the Athletics in Tarboro, N. C., and Lincoln, Neb. He succeeds Richard Armstrong who resigned to enter the advertising business.

Woodling, Vernon Defense Repeaters

NEW YORK (AP)—First-baseman Mickey Vernon of Washington and Outfielder Gene Woodling of the New York Yankees were the only players to repeat as defensive leaders in 1952, according to official American League statistics released Thursday.

Vernon, who topped the first sackers in fielding 1951 with a .994 average, made 10 errors in 1,416 chances last season for a .993 mark. Woodling made only one error in 254 chances for a .996 slate. The Yankee flychaser finished in a triple tie for the lead in '51.

The other individual leaders were: Nelson Fox, Chicago, second base, .985; Fred Hatfield, Boston-Detroit, third base, .971; Johnny Lipton, Detroit-Boston, shortstop, .981; Cline Courtney, St. Louis, catcher, .996; and Bobby Shantz, Philadelphia, 1.000.

Rockets, Links In Home Tilts Tonight As Bluebirds Travel

THREE games are on tap for local prep cagers tonight, two of them scheduled for Capital City floors.

Lincoln High and Northeast, both Class A crews, perform before home crowds. For the Rockets, tonight's will be the first local showing.

Northeast takes on Columbus at Northeast High, while the Links tackle Grand Island at Whittier. Both games are slated to get under way at 8 p.m.

Cathedral, meanwhile, takes its 2-0 record to Columbus for a meeting with St. Bonaventure. Coach Vince Aldrich, working with a non-lettermen club, will field the same starting lineup that produced the two opening victories.

At forward will be Bill Heidrick and Denny Costin, John Fagan will be at center, and Tom Studnicka and Joe Clark at guards. The game, preceded by a reserve tussle at 6:30 p.m., gets under way at 8.

Grand Island, 51-30 victor over Lexington in its only outing to date, is figured as tough opposition for the Links. Dick Rasmussen, 6-3 forward; Don Roe, 5-10 senior guard, and Dick Mangelson, towering 6-4 pivot, are the Islanders' only lettermen.

Coach Lyle Weyand will start Ernie (Bud) Hollibaugh at center, Ted King and Don Erway at the guards and LeRoy Butherus and Bob Barnett at forwards. Erway with 11 points and Butherus with 10 sparked the Links past Norfolk last week in their second victory in two starts.

Northeast, with a loss and two wins, the most recent a slim 53-50 victory at Omaha North, undergoes a slight overhaul for its meeting with Columbus. Junior Thomas, 5-9 senior, will open at one guard. Other starters remain the same, with Dave Tullis and Ken Forbes at the forwards, 6-4 Bob Cook at center and Jim Haberlan joining Thomas in the backcourt.

Charles Speice, center, at 6-2, the tallest of the Discoverers' starters, will team with an all-letterman crew composed of Jack Haldiman and Bob Pope at forwards and Harlan Potter and Gerald Karlin at guards. Columbus sports a 1-1 record to date.

Reserve games at both the Northeast and Lincoln meetings are slated to get under way at 6:30 p.m.

The Firing Line

WE drove General Manager Bill Hayes of Sherman Field and Charley Ritchie, the Wichita vice president, out to the airport the other night. Hayes was heading east in a quest for additional player talent. Ritchie was returning from the Western League meetings.

Asking Charley about how Wichita worked as an independent operation, he handed us a letter he was sending out entitled "What Do The Indians Mean To Wichita." You might take the following letter as a criteria of what an independent baseball operation will mean to Lincoln.

Dear Fellow Member:

The Wichita Indians and the Western League, aside from furnishing five months of the National game — BASEBALL — each year, have much greater effect on the community life, as well as the economic life of our town. We point to the following facts and figures that you should know about:

OF COMMUNITY INTEREST

1. More than 100 American Legion Junior baseball teams attend Indian games each season, as free guests.

2. The Knot-Hole Gang admits free, boys and girls—ages 9 through 12—under excellent supervision for every game.

3. Chief Wahoo (the automatic umpire) visits every city playground accompanied by Indian players to instruct all boys how to throw a baseball. Prizes are awarded all winners by Indians.

4. The Indians' efforts on the field provide the greatest general topic of friendly conversation and arguments for Wichitans every day for five months of the year.

5. We improve community spirit and pride for baseball is the great equalizer. The butcher, the baker, the banker, the doctor, the lawyer, the welder, the printer, the painter, the plumber, the housewife, the teacher — plus hundreds of others, rub shoulders and sit together at the ball park—all in the same friendly atmosphere.

6. The Indians represent Wichita throughout four states in a clean, honest, highly competitive, yet friendly way—Western League baseball.

7. The Indians provide five months of entertainment to hundreds of shut-ins and others who are unable to attend in person through the medium of radio broadcasts.

OF ECONOMIC INTEREST

THE Wichita Indians and the Western League are an important part of our business life:

1. Indian employees' salaries amount to more than $100,000 per year—nearly all is spent in Wichita for rent, food, utilities, clothing and general living expenses.

2. The Indians pay more than $25,000 in taxes—Federal and State.

3. The Indians pay an average of $15,000 per year for rent to the city.

4. The Indians buy more than $15,000 per year in food and drinks for concession operations from Wichita business firms.

5. The Indians spend over $10,000 a year for transportation with Wichita companies.

6. The Indians spend another $30,000 a year for such items as insurance, drugs, hospital services, doctors' fees, advertising, food, uniforms, equipment, telephone and telegraph, playing equipment, gasoline and oil, and postage—all of these and many others bought locally.

7. The Western League teams that come to play the Indians spend nearly $20,000 a season for food, lodging, travel, taxis and entertainment such as movies.

8. These expenditures of more than $200,000 in a period of five months in Wichita with Wichita business firms and individuals, make the Indians a huge factor in our city's economic life. Indian and Western League money stays at home.

BASEBALL today is the AMERICAN way!

Yours for better baseball,
CHARLES S. RITCHIE,
Vice President and Business Manager Wichita Indians.

Overhauling THE NEWS

By WALLY DeBROWN

The new cars seem to have almost everything anyone in his right mind might want.. assuming that most of us are in our right minds. However, a Los Angeles judge offers an idea that most of the gas-buggy Houdinis have managed to ignore.

The judge suggests a new accessory...a sound device under the front seat which goes into action whenever the driver goes over 70 miles per hour. At that point the machine begins to play, "Nearer My God to Thee." And the judge is as serious as a judge. It might cure a lot of speeders, and those who weren't cured would at least have appropriate exit music.

Don't know when I've seen so many red-suited Santa Clauses as there have been this year. Kinda nice to see a red influence that isn't being investigated by Congress. Top-Notch Cage Action Is On Tap For Tonight

By JIM CLARK
Star Sports Staff Member

A COLORFUL prep slate, offering some of the top-notch cage action for the season, is in store for fans tonight as preppers wind up their pre-holiday schedules.

In the Gate City, three games of relative importance are slated, with the Central-Benson tilt attracting the spotlight. The Bunnies are currently sailing along at an unbeaten clip and are given a slight edge over the visiting Eagles.

South is a slim favorite to upset the Tech Maroons' hopes for rousing season. In the third game, Creighton Prep plays host to Norfolk in a game that should be easy sledding for the Bluejays.

In the Capital City, Lincoln High and Grand Island put their unbeaten strings on the block with the Islanders favored to come out of the fracas with theirs still intact. The pivot man should be the difference in this game.

The Northeast Rockets, after slipping past Omaha North last week, should have an easy evening when they entertain the Columbus Discoverers. The Discoverers have a new coach in Bob Hauver, though, and could produce one of the season's biggest surprises.

Still trying to blot out the remains of a dismal football season, the Beatrice Orangemen draw a tough assignment when they journey to Seward. The Bluejays have turned in some impressive wins this season and should hang the Orangemen's scalp above their mantle.

The Class B defending champion Minden Whippets, seeking their first win of the season, should be able to square their season record at the expense of the Curtis Aggies.

Nebraska City and Fairbury, both with little to shout about after two weeks of play, lock horns in what looms as a tight battle. The Pioneers get the nod by the margin of a few gratis shots.

Wildcats Take Initial Victory

. . . S.D. Tutors Fall, 71-63

Lincoln Star Special

WAYNE, Neb.—Wayne State Teachers College won its first basketball game in four starts Thursday night, defeating Southern Teachers of Springfield, S. D., 71-63, here.

The Wildcats overcame a two-point deficit at the first quarter, scorching the nets for 28 counters in the second period, to lead at the half, 38-24. Wayne Samuelson, a sophomore guard playing before a hometown crowd, was the Wildcats' big cog in the high scoring second canto, setting the Tutors on their ears with his long shots.

Ken Miller paced the South Dakotans' fierce third period drive that pulled the visitors within five points of Wayne, 50-45 at the buzzer, but the Wildcats checked the drive and outscored Southern Teachers in the final canto, 21-18.

Williamson Spikes Rumors Of Badger Offensive Change

PASADENA, Calif. (INS)—Ivy Williamson, mentor of the Big Ten's Rose Bowlers, the Wisconsin Badgers, put his charges through a couple of stiff workouts Thursday, then made a statement or two that did no more than confirm expectations.

Williamson, whose team meets USC in the New Year's Day classic, first of all poured cold water on the reports that his offense would unleash new strategy against the Trojans. But as these reports, were, for the most part, figments of sports writers' imaginations, the disclosure was not profound.

USC Coach Jess Hill laid his finger on the facts of the situation several days ago when he said it was too late in the season for any team to design a new defense.

Williamson also said:

"We hope to carry on in traditional Rose Bowl Big Ten fashion."

That, of course, means that Wisconsin will "sock 'em hard" to take the seventh straight Rose Bowl victory belt back to the midwest.

When asked what he considered would be Wisconsin's toughest problem against USC, the Badger pilot remarked drily:

"Scoring."

Williamson said he considers the Trojan defense one of the most formidable in college football, but he was a good deal less enthusiastic about the Pacific Coast champions' offense.

Upset Highlights NAIB Opening

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (INS) — Southwest Missouri State College opened the National Association of Intercollegiate Basketball tourney Thursday night by trouncing Morningside, Ia., College, 84 to 69, at Kansas City.

Forrest Hamilton was the high scorer for the winning Missourians with 24 points. Bob Hussey was top man for Morningside with 14 points.

Washburn University of Topeka, Kan., upset the highly-favored Marshall College (W. Va.) team, 63 to 61, in the second game of the night.

Bill Yearsley scored 16 points for the winning Ichabods and Sidney King was high point man for Marshall with 18 points. Free throws gave Washburn its margin of victory.

A smooth-working Portland (Ore.) University squad defeated Rockhurst College of Kansas City 64 to 47 in the third game. Andy Johnson looped in 15 points to lead Portland's attack.

The Pilots racked up 32 points from the foul line and handled the ball in razzle-dazzle style throughout.

Creighton Gains Overtime Victory

OMAHA (AP)—Creighton turned on the steam in an overtime Thursday night and took an 80-72 basketball victory from Denver University team which had held the whip hand most of the evening.

Denver led only 34-32 at the half, but managed to stay in front up to the last five minutes. Then, led by Forward Ray Yost, Creighton caught up and the regular playing time ended 68-68.

Yost made 4 points during the overtime to boost his total for the game to 32.

49ers Offered For Sale — If

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The San Francisco 49ers National Football League team are for sale if the price is right.

The decision was announced Thursday by Anthony J. and Victor P. Morabito, the club owners. Victor owns 25 per cent of the club.

Elder brother Tony said "I have decided to sell my share if the price is right."

Tony, 42, was advised by physicians to sell last season because of a heart condition but he decided to ride out the 1952 schedule.

The 49ers, after getting off to a fast start and leading the National Conference of the National Football League, went into a slump midway in the season. They finished third in the conference with a 7-5 record.

The Great Togo, Sonny Myers Headline Fairgrounds Mat Bill

ONE of the nation's top television attractions and foremost among the unusual grapplers on the national mat scene today, The Great Togo, noted Japanese ring artist, will appear in the headline bout at the Fairgrounds Tuesday night.

TOGO'S FOE — Sonny Meyer, shown in action above, has been tabbed as the opponent of The Great Togo in a Fairgrounds grapple classic next Tuesday.

The Nipponese meanie is slated to meet Sonny Myers, ever-popular St. Joseph performer, in a two-out-of-three bout with a 60-minute time limit. Togo outweighs Myers, 240 pounds to 228 pounds.

Iowans face Nebraskans in the two preliminary bouts. In the semiwindup, two-out-of-three with a 45-minute ceiling, Omahan Joe Dusek meets Bob Geigel, one-time Iowa University football star.

Lincoln's own Howard Pierce, his 220 pounds, four pounds less than the weight sported by his opponent, will take on Joe Scapello of Des Moines in the one-fall, 30-minute limit curtain raiser, which starts at 8:30 p.m.

Jerry Adam will be the third man in the ring—and the third man to handle the officiating chores in as many weeks at the Fairgrounds.

NEA Scores High Pressure Sports For Youngsters

WASHINGTON (AP)—The National Education Association Thursday struck out at what it called high pressure sports competition among elementary or junior high schools.

A special committee, completing a three-year study, condemned such things as Little League baseball, "little" bowl games, midget football and "biddy" basketball for youngsters 12 or younger.

The committee said highly organized competition, patterned after high school and college sports, gives youngsters an exaggerated idea of the importance of sports and may even be harmful to them.

The views of the committee were summed up in a 46-page booklet entitled: "Desirable Athletic Competition for Children."

The committee's suggestion: informal intramural competition for children in upper elementary grades and physical education for all youngsters.

For those in the higher grades, it said, there could be play days, sports days and "occasional informal, invitational games between nearby schools or neighborhood groups."

Seixas, Tony Trabert Top Italian Net Stars

SYDNEY, Australia (INS)—Vic Seixas and Tony Trabert gunned to a pair of singles victories in the Davis Cup interzone finals against Italy Thursday.

Today the same two will team in an effort to win the doubles and clinch a challenge-round berth against Australia.

Trabert easily disposed of Gianni Cucelli after Seixas had encountered unlooked-for pressure at the hands of Italy's Fausto Gardini. Seixas had to apply himself to pull out a 5-7, 3-6, 6-3, 8-6, 6-3 success.

Trabert routed Cucelli, 6-3, 6-1, 6-3.

Los Angeles Rams Enplane For Detroit

LOS ANGELES (INS)—The Los Angeles Rams, 1951's world's professional football champions, enplaned Thursday for football-minded Detroit and their NFL championship clash with the Lions.

If the Rams get by the Lions, they will play the Cleveland Browns for the world title at Cleveland, Dec. 28.

Meat Shoot

The Salt Valley Gun Club will sponsor a ham, bacon and poultry shoot at the Club grounds, eight miles north of Lincoln between 14th and 27th Streets, at 1:30 p.m. Sunday. There will be practice targets at all shoots and shells, candy and soft drinks will be sold on the grounds.

HST Gets U.S.Health Proposal

Plan Differs With That Of Truman And AMA

WWASHINGTON (AP) — The President's commission, studying the health needs of the nation, Thursday proposed a middle-of-the-road plan for solving a hot national issue—how to pay the doctor's bill.

The commission proposed 1½ billion dollar annual outlay of federal and state funds to bolster voluntary insurance plans covering the costs of hospital and medical care for all the nation's people lacking full ability to pay.

The program would be administered chiefly by the states, which would match federal money dollar-for-dollar.

It differs both from a plan unsuccessfully espoused by President Truman and a rival proposal of the American Medical Association.

In Chicago, the president of the AMA termed one aspect of the report "compulsory health insurance."

Dr. Louis H. Bauer of Hempstead, N. Y., said a major recommendation in the report provides that "The federal government through payroll deductions, would pay directly for the medical care of a large segment of the population. This is compulsory health insurance."

President Truman, since 1945, has vainly plugged for a federal system of prepaid sickness insurance for wage-earning Americans and their families—to be financed by a compulsory tax on employees and employers, along the lines of the social security system.

The commission, whose formation was termed by the AMA a "political expediency"—and was more vehemently criticized by individual leaders of the AMA—also called for:

1. The training of more doctors, nurses and other health personnel.
2. Construction of more hospitals.
3. Increased medical research.
4. Support of industrial health and of migratory workers.

One of its main findings was that "despite superior medical service and low death rates, Americans are not enjoying as good health as might be expected in this country."

The commission estimated the federal government's share of such a program would total $1,016,000,000 million annually, including the 750 million dollars for grants to states in the voluntary prepayment plan.

This would double present federal health outlays.

The commission also proposed that a federal health commission be set up permanently to study national health problems on a continuing basis.

The commission was headed by Dr. Paul Magnuson of Chicago and included seven doctors from university staffs, representatives of hospitals and nurses, consumers organizations, farmers, labor and the public.

U.S. Truce Talk Agreement Called 'Tragic Blunder'

Solon Says Armistice Impossible

TOKYO (INS)—Agreement by the United States to Korean truce talks with the Communists was described as a "tragic blunder" Thursday by Rep. Winston L. Prouty (R-Vt) after a week's inspection tour on the embattled peninsula.

As a result of the enemy buildup during the armistice negotiations, Prouty said, "it is going to be difficult to knock them from their positions."

Prouty, a member of the House veterans affairs committee, said he does not believe the Allies will ever gain an armistice by negotiation.

The Vermonter told International News Service:

"One of the most tragic blunders the United States made was to agree to participate in the truce talks when we had the Reds almost knocked out."

He warned that the Reds are much more deeply entrenched in well-built bunkers than they were during the "MacArthur phase" of the war.

Prouty, who spent almost a week touring the lines in Korea, said:

"I feel that we will never have an armistice. If it is not the repatriation issue, it will be something else. The Communists don't want an armistice."

PRESIDENT GETS HEALTH COMMISSION REPORT — President Truman poses in the White House Rose Garden Thursday with Paul Magnuson, chairman of the President's Commission on Health Needs, after he received the commission's report. (See story on Page 20.) (AP Wirephoto Thursday Night.)

Emery Nelson Named To Head Farmers' Club

Emery Nelson was elected president of the Farmers' Club at the annual Christmas party at the YWCA. He succeeds Dr. Joseph Alexis.

Also elected were Clifford Jorgensen, vice president; Willis Brainard, treasurer, and Mrs. Willis R. Hecht, secretary.

New members of the board of directors are Loys Smith and T. H. Goodding. Hold-over directors are Arthur Hughes and George Frampton.

In a report on agriculture in the Far East, Judge Robert G. Simmons, chief justice of the state Supreme Court, told the group that farmers in the Orient both lead and are behind U.S. farmers in certain agricultural phases.

"Farmers of the Far East are behind in utilization of crop rotation, seed strains and modern farming methods," said Justice Simmons, who returned recently from a tour of the Orient.

In intensive farming, use of fertilizer and, in many respects, agricultural engineering, the Far Eastern farmer outstrips his American counterpart, according to the justice.

Optimist Club Program

Christmas music by the Northeast High School Girls Octet and an address by Dr. C. Vin White, pastor of First Presbyterian Church, composed the program for Optimist Club members and their wives at the annual Christmas party at the Cornhusker Hotel. Dr. White discussed the meaning of the Advent in everyday lives in the world today.

Socialite Arrested; Propaganda Work For Nazis Alleged

LOS ANGELES (INS) — A prominent San Francisco socialite who assertedly spent the war years in Germany working for the Nazi propaganda machine was arrested by federal authorities at her winter mansion in Palm Springs Thursday.

She was identified as German-born Irene Albert, 37, prominent in San Francisco Bay area society.

Federal investigators said that she was arrested on charges that she supplied false information on her passport when she returned to the U. S. from Germany in 1946.

The government charged that she failed to state on her application that she had been employed by a foreign government.

Miss Albert, according to federal investigators, was hired by the Nazi government to make recordings of songs and instrumental music during the war years that she remained in Germany. The recordings were beamed to South America until 1943, two years after the U. S. warred against Germany.

Opera Act Presented

The first act of the opera, "The Song of Norway," was presented by Nebraska Wesleyan students at the Sertoma Club's annual Ladies Day meeting at the Cornhusker Hotel. Director of the production is Prof. Oscar Bennett.

Mrs. C. Ketelhut Dies; Was Lifelong Resident Of Eagle

Mrs. Clara May Ketelhut, 68, Lincoln, Rt. 1, a lifelong resident of Eagle, died Thursday at a Lincoln hospital.

Mrs. Ketelhut

Mrs. Ketelhut was born Oct. 21, 1883 and lived many years on a farm southwest of Eagle. On July 12, 1917, she married Otto W. Ketelhut.

She was a member of the Eagle Methodist Church.

Surviving, besides her husband, are two sisters, Mrs. Etta Moss of Garden City, Kan., and Mrs. Varena Curley of Seward, Neb.

Here is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you. Registered U. S. Yesterday's Answer

ONE MAN'S OPINION By Walter Kiernan

(Distributed by International News Service)

My barber says if Mr. Truman is the 32nd president and Gen. Eisenhower is to be the 34th, like they say, we've sure missed an interesting administration there somewhere.

☆ ☆ ☆

He was wondering if that time several years ago when the tax collection system was changed and they "forgave" us a year's taxes they also forgave us a four-year president and forgot to mention it.

Kiernan

☆ ☆ ☆

Either that or the Democrats have been in so long it just seems like four years longer than they were so they get an extra administration on the record book.

☆ ☆ ☆

But even if we did miss a 33rd president we had a 32nd who got us into about as many situations as two presidents could.

☆ ☆ ☆

Anyway my barber is already at work on a book to be titled "The 33rd President" or "The Story of the Little Man Who Wasn't There."

☆ ☆ ☆

He figures 300 blank pages and a few extra for readers' comments will about do it.

QUIRKS

MEMPHIS, Tenn. — A bored mare had a wild taste of freedom but all it got her was a headache.

The mare, name of Betsy, bolted when Junkman Thomas Knigho hauled back on the reins for a red light and the bit broke.

Betsy ran the red light. Knight jumped off the wagon in a desperate grab for the bridle and broke his leg.

Then the wagon tongue snapped and the bounding wagon veered into a parked car. Damage: $100.

But Betsy, freed of her burdens, dashed into a downtown hotel's parking garage and rammed smack into a concrete pillar.

When three cops arrived on the run, Betsy was still unconscious. She finally staggered to shaky legs and was transported to the humane shelter.

Grain Liquidations Bring Mixed Prices

CHICAGO (AP)—Grains managed to absorb more liquidation on the Board of Trade Thursday without backing down as sharply as in previous sessions.

Final prices were mixed with more contracts showing gains than losses. Best upturn came in lard, which has been under severe pressure for many weeks and may have been "oversold," brokers said. Soybeans made the poorest showing.

Wheat closed ⅛ higher, rye ½ lower to ¼ higher, soybeans ½ lower to ¼ higher and lard 12 to 28 cents a hundred pounds higher.

The market started out with a definite downward trend in everything except corn, which held fairly steady on short-covering. Many traders felt the boost in the government's corn crop estimate, issued late Wednesday, was not as large as had been expected.

Around midday, wheat led a timid rally. It could not hold the gains established at that time. Buying followed news Yugoslavia had bought another cargo of red wheat, making six for the week.

Lack of forward progress on the part of soybeans was attributed to further weakness in soybean meal, which went to a new seasonal low at $68.00 a ton bid and $69.00 asked. The persistent price downturn has cut into processing margins and weakened the demand for cash beans.

Buying by previous short sellers, disappointed over the government crop report, appeared to be the main reason for corn's firmness.

Select Stocks Show Marked Run-Ups

NEW YORK (INS)—The stock market was highlighted Thursday by sharp run-ups in a select list of issues. Elsewhere however, the trend was obscured by year-end tax adjustment transactions which made for criss-cross of plus and minus signs.

WallStreet observers were impressed by the ease with which individual stocks moved up under relatively moderate buying orders. At the same time, they noted that close scale-down support was accorded most issues which were being sold to record tax losses.

Northern Pacific was a feature in the rail sector with a run-up of more than 3 points at its best. Illinois Central advanced more than 2 at a new peak, while in the lower-priced division, Baltimore and Ohio was bought in large blocks, although gaining only fractionally.

There were a number of strong specialty issues. Hooker Electro-chemical ran up 2 points at one time, while gains of a point or better were posted by Texas Pacific Coal and Oil, Virginia Carolina Chemical, and both Iron Works.

Mixed trends were the rule among the pivotal industrials. International Harvester and Standard Oil of New Jersey leaned to the upside, while General Electric and General Motors eased on profit-taking.

Volume was somewhat more active at about 1,850,000 shares.

Curb stocks were irregularly improved. U. S. Government bonds firmed on the bond market after recent softness. Grains closed firm in commodities.

BOND MARKET

NEW YORK (AP)—Tight fisted trading sent the bond market lower Thursday despite selected strength among the railroads. Most utilities skidded for the second day in a row. Medium priced railroads, in demand at the start, were selling at less than their best prices at the end of the session. Industrials were steady.

It was the quietest session since Nov. 6 and trading was highly selective. Volume declined to $3,100,000 par value, compared with $3,733,000 Wednesday.

U. S. government bonds ended narrowly mixed after climbing fractionally earlier.

'Fortunate' Aid Balance Will Help Crosby—Val

Gov. Val Peterson Thursday said the "very fortunate circumstance" of a $3 million plus balance of state money in the assistance fund should help Gov.-elect Robert Crosby achieve his announced objective of a .38 of a mill cut in the state property levy next year.

Departments estimated that they should have unexpended balances which would reduce the amount necessary to obtain by taxes of between $4,500,000 and $5,000,000. Two years ago they estimated $2,300,000 would remain. It actually was $2,900,000. On this basis more than $5,000,000 may remain.

But as to the soundness of Crosby's approach to the budget problem, Peterson's only comment was "I'll submit my budget!"

The Crosby cut would be 38 cents per $1,000 of assessed valuation.

Substantial Help

At North Platte, Crosby said "I think there is reason to expect a reduction in the Department of Public Assistance and Child Welfare will be of substantial help in effecting a levy reduction."

An added factor in Crosby's favor, Peterson declared, is a million dollars saved by code departments under the governor's 1951 executive order directing them to limit expenditures to 95 per cent of their appropriation.

Peterson showed his hand Thursday to the extent of saying that he will recommend a million dollar increase in the safety patrol's appropriation.

"We need 50 more men to run the 12 weighing stations ordered by the Legislature and I'm recommending 11 additional patrolmen for the system as a whole," he explained.

The governor pointed out further that in every previous budget message he has recommended putting the school retirement system on a "funded sound financial basis." The cost of this has been estimated anywhere from two million dollars up.

Total general fund askings as reported to Tax Commissioner Philip Johnson's office are $61,681,087. The 1951 legislature appropriated $58,081,519 for a two year period. With the balances remaining, requests are reduced in the present budget to $57,000,000.

The State Board of Equlization last August figured general fund expenditures for the present fiscal year at $28,051,526. Of this sum the board found that $18,156,000 would have to be raised with the state property levy.

In explanation Wednesday of his proposal to cut the 1953 state general fund levy by at least .38 of a mill, Crosby commented:

"I propose that the table shall be set according to the pocketbook, rather than the appetite."

"I prefer the budget making method that looks toward the people who have to pay the taxes," he continued, with the additional comment that taxes in this country have come "close to being oppressive."

Crosby emphasized he was not saying the 1952 state levy would be exactly 5.5 mills, $5.50 per $1,000.

"I have tried to set a conservative reduction. I want it plainly understood I am hoping it will be greater," he declared.

Any increase in assesed valuations next spring would help, Crosby said.
